Draft Callup Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft callup ceiling was raised from 35 for June to 50 for July as Selective Service announced Tuesday that 7,300 men will be called up in July and about 9,000 in August.

How high the ceiling for callup numbers will be raised in August will be announced in mid-June, the announcement said.

The July callup following a 9,000 June draft will raise to 22,500 the total for this year. The Pentagon has announced that 50,000 men will be drafted this year compared with 48,000 last year.

The lottery callup ceiling is expected to be well under No. 125 of last year.

Men in the group being called who are in summer school will be given a chance to finish their term if it does not end before the reporting date.

Most of those being called in July are in the first priority selection group born in 1952 who are classified 1A, 1A0 and 10.

This is the second use of the uniform national call in which men with the same numbers are called nationwide at the same time. This replaced the old system of state and local board quotas.

Those in the July group probably will be the first able to take advantage of a proposed rule to permit men to enlist in the National Guard or Reserves after receiving their induction notice. The rule was proposed earlier this month and will go into effect by the end of June.

The current rule limits men to enlistment in the active duty services up to 10 days before their induction date.

Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday ruled that states may make smaller welfare payments to needy children than to the blind, aged and disabled.

The 5-3 decision came in a case from Texas where about 87 per cent of these children are blacks or chicanos.

Justice William H. Rehnquist said there was no evidence of racial discrimination. And, he wrote in the majority opinion, "So long as its judgments are rational, and not invidious, the legislature's efforts to tackle the problems of the poor and needy are not subject to a constitutional straitjacket."

Texas is one of 26 states that set a ceiling on all welfare payments and then made bigger cuts in the needy-children category than in the others.

In the same ruling, but by a 5-4 vote, the court approved the method used by 18 states, including Texas, and the District of Columbia to subtract all outside income earned by needy families.

In these states, aid to the families is cut one-fourth below the standard of need. If there is any outside income the assistance is further reduced by that amount.

Justices Thurgood Marshall and William J. Brennan, dissenting said federal welfare laws do not allow larger welfare cuts for dependent children than for other groups.

Justice William O. Douglas, in a second dissent, said these laws should be applied in the Texas case "against the background of rank discrimination against the blacks and the chicanos."

But the three holdovers from the Warren Court's liberal majority were outvoted by the four Nixon administration appointees—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Rehnquist, Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell, plus Byron R. White. Justice Potter Stewart joined them except for the way outside income is subtracted.

In other actions the court:

- Kept thousands of new young voters from participating in the June 20 presidential preference primary in New York. The vote was 5-4. Sometime next term, after the election is over, the justices will rule on the state's cumbersome system of party registration.
- Agreed to rule next term on the power of grand juries to force witnesses to give samples of their voices and their handwriting. The issue was raised in cases from Chicago, where the U.S. Circuit Court held the bally witnesses are shielded by the Fourth Amendment to Constitution.
- Unanimously denied California a review of the recent state supreme court decision that outlawed the death penalty in California. That ruling spared the lives of 108 men and 5 women, including Sirhan Sirhan, the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and mass-murderer Charles Manson.
- Still under study by the justices is whether the federal Constitution permits capital punishment anywhere in the nation. A ruling is expected next month.
- Unanimously rejected an appeal by Philadelphia officials from a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court there that the Nixon administration had illegally restricted the role of slum residents in operating Model Cities programs.

Indochina Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon claimed Tuesday that U.S. bombing had cut to close to zero the flow of supplies from Communist China into North Vietnam.

Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim estimated there is a couple of weeks backlog of supplies waiting along rail lines in China to move into North Vietnam, but unable to do so because U.S. bombers have cut bridges and tracks.

Some supplies are arriving from China by truck, Friedheim said, but he described this as a "very, very minimal" flow. U.S. bombers are free to hit any trucks or vehicles they find on roads leading from China, he said.

At the same time, Friedheim reported there still have been no attempts by Soviet or other ships to cross the mine fields into seven North Vietnamese ports sealed on President Nixon's order May 8.

"To this point there have been no major efforts to develop alternate routes of supply," the Pentagon spokesman said.

The Pentagon spokesman said the North Vietnamese had made some effort to repair some of the bridges and other rail transportation facilities battered by U.S. bombing, but he said "They have been singularly unsuccessful in making a dent in the achievements of air power and naval gun fire."

So far, Friedheim said, U.S. reconnaissance has not seen the sort of major effort the North Vietnamese undertook during the 1965-1968 bombing campaign to repair damage to the two major rail lines running between Vietnam and South China.

Nixon Pleased With Summit Iranians Greet President

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An estimated half-million Iranians gave President Nixon a tumultuous welcome here Tuesday and he pledged to their leader that the United States would not forget its friends in forming new relations with Communist powers.

The crowd lined his route from the airport as Nixon, enthusiastic about his breakthrough agreements with Kremlin leaders, carried his four-nation tour from the Soviet Union to this centuries-old Persian City.

Lifting his glass to the shah of Iran at a glittering state dinner, Nixon said his Kremlin summit talks improve "chances for peace between all nations of the world."

But he said there was no intention at the summit "to divide the world into two spheres of influence."

The United States considers it vital, Nixon said, that "we build our policy on alliances and friendships we have now, in the past and in the future."

He spoke of the bonds of friendship between America and Iran and said they would not be forgotten.

Recalling the welcome he received on the streets of Tehran, Nixon said it was "a glorious day."

He referred to the "tens of thousands... of girls and boys, smiling and waving, with the American flag and the Iranian flag side by side."

The President said when he saw the children he thought, "Our obligation is to them, our obligation is to their future."

That thought, he said, was behind his summit talks in Moscow, and three months earlier in Peking. "Our thoughts, our hopes, our dreams are for our children... that they may have the opportunity to grow up in a more prosperous, a more friendly, a more peaceful world," Nixon said.

Thousands of students in school uniforms had joined the motorcade crowd.

"Welcome Mr. President, welcome Mr. President" chanted flag-waving Iranians in their native tongue as Nixon, standing with the shah of Iran in a black American limousine, waved back and smiled.

A spokesman for the shah estimated between 500,000 and 750,000 lined the 15-mile motorcade route from the airport to the hilltop palace where the President and Mrs. Nixon are staying during their 24-hour visit.

Aides described Nixon as pleased with the outcome of his week of Kremlin summit talks. In Moscow, he signed a far-reaching declaration of principles pledging the two superpowers to a new era of peaceful coexistence and a treaty and agreement to curb the nuclear

Humphrey, McGovern Appear Jointly On TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rival Democrats Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern said Tuesday night that neither would accept Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama as a vice presidential running mate.

But both top contenders for the Democratic White House nomination said Wallace is entitled to consideration and an airing of his views at the party's national convention.

Appearing in an hour-long joint interview on NBC's "Meet the Press," the second of their campaigns for the June 6 California presidential primary, both McGovern and Humphrey said their philosophical differences with Wallace ruled out the possibility of making him a vice presidential choice.

McGovern said that for him to put Wallace on the ticket would be "straining the system too far."

"I would want Gov. Wallace consulted; I think he ought to have a voice at the convention... but I think it would be unrealistic for Gov. Wallace and George McGovern to run on the same ticket and I think Gov. Wallace would feel that way," McGovern said.

Humphrey answered the question in much the same way. "I do not believe that George Wallace and Hubert Humphrey have that much in common on platform and philosophy," the Minnesota senator said.

"But, I do believe that George Wallace has earned the consideration of the party to at least listen to his views..."

Humphrey said Wallace is entitled to respect and fair play at the Democratic convention.

Wallace was shot and partially paralyzed as he campaigned in Laurel, Md., May 15. The Alabama governor is not on the California primary ballot, but a

Thieu Joins Defense Of Besieged Kontum

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese tanks slammed into enemy positions at Kontum on Tuesday as President Nguyen Van Thieu flew into the city under rocket fire to personally spur on the defenders.

Their promoted Col. Ly Tong Ba to brigadier general while Ba's 23rd Division pressed a house-to-house sweep and a tank-backed push to gain ground against the attacking North Vietnamese.

Meanwhile, Navy fighter-bombers set aflame one of North Vietnam's largest air yards and shattered 16 bridges to disrupt enemy supply movements, the U.S. Command said.

Crewmen told of thundering explosions, with flaming blazes at the Uong Bi rail center 10 miles northeast of Haiphong. One Navy plane was reported lost but its crewmen were rescued at sea.

Action at the provincial capital of Kontum in the central highlands dominated the ground war. About a dozen M41 tanks rumbled in a line toward the old 22nd Division compound at the city's north end now held by the enemy.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel said tank guns smashed buildings which remained standing after allied air strikes. North Vietnamese troops, who have occupied parts of Kontum since Friday, fought back with mortar and small-arms fire.

Other South Vietnamese units searched sections of an abandoned field hospital near the occupied compound and reported killing 34 enemy soldiers and capturing three prisoners.

At the other end of town, units canvassing a residential area south of the airstrip found underground bunkers and reported killing 27 North Vietnamese. Government casualties were given as seven wounded.

But enemy gunners remained ensconced in a wrecked concrete water tower, despite attempts to dislodge them by artillery fire and wire-guided missiles. The tower houses anti-aircraft guns and snipers can occasionally lay direct fire on divisional headquarters.

Fighting eased somewhat at the besieged provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, although attacking troops poured in 500 rounds of artillery.

Two divisions threatening the town have apparently pulled back to regroup in nearby Cambodia, U.S. military sources said. It was the first reported withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces since their offensive started two months ago. Hundreds of U.S. B52 strikes have left their positions devastated and smoking.

The Cambodian high command in Phnom Penh provided indirect confirmation of the reports the two enemy divisions withdrew by announcing that southeast Cambodia still is under North Vietnamese pressure.

"Enemy pressure continues around Svay Rieng," the command spokesman reported.

Environmentalists Win Court Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmentalists won a major victory Tuesday when a judge established the principle that states may not permit high-quality air to deteriorate even to the level of federal antipollution standards.

U.S. District Court Judge John H. Pratt endorsed this principle of "nondegradation" in ruling on a suit brought by the Sierra Club, a California-based group, and three other environmental groups against William D. Ruckelshaus, head of the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Judge Pratt ordered Ruckelshaus to make sure that state plans for applying federal air-pollution limits include this non-degradation element; otherwise, Ruckelshaus must disapprove the affected portions of the state plans and impose his own regulations.

Government lawyers promised an immediate appeal, and Pratt delayed the effectiveness of his own order until Wednesday morning to give them time to file it.

Under clean-air laws of 1967 and 1970, Ruckelshaus last year put into effect federal standards limiting the amounts of various common pollutants which may be permitted in the nation's air.

The laws left it up to each state to put those limits into effect, and the states have submitted their plans to Ruckelshaus.

The law required also that Ruckelshaus approve or disapprove these plans by May 31, that is, Wednesday.

He is authorized to prescribe plans of his own for any state without an approved plan.

The environmental groups, however, filed suit last week contending that Ruckelshaus, as a matter of policy, was about to approve plans which would not protect existing clean air. They argued that such protection was intended by Congress when it wrote that the purpose of the law was to protect and enhance air quality.

U.S. And NATO Lay Down Talk Outlines

BONN (AP) — The United States and its North Atlantic allies laid down the line Tuesday for new talks with the Soviet Union following President Nixon's agreements in Moscow.

The far-reaching negotiations would deal with:

- The reduction of troops and weapons in Europe.
- East-West cooperation for better relations among governments, people and businesses.
- The future of West Germany and Communist East Germany as members of the international community, and the responsibility that the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union still have for them 27 years after the end of World War II.

Secretary of State William F. Rogers reported on the Moscow agreements as first speaker at the working session of foreign ministers from the 15 countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, U.S. officials reported he said President Nixon and Soviet leaders had tentatively agreed that preparations for the first two-stage arms reduction and East-West cooperation—should be accelerated.

A Feeble Argument

One of the feeblest of all the unconvincing arguments against sensible gun control legislation is still being trotted out by National Rifle Association spokesmen. With a straight face they continue to maintain that if we let the "right to bear arms" be curtailed there's just no telling where the erosion of our basic freedoms may end.

This is based, or purports to be, on an untenable interpretation of the Second Amendment. Article II of the Bill of Rights does provide that "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed," but is that all? Not a bit of it. What the guns unlimited folks slide over lightly is the operative clause.

The Second Amendment reads, in full: "A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." The fact is, as anyone who has given the matter any thought at all must realize, that the national security has long since been assured not by "a well-regulated militia" but by our complex and far-flung national defense establishment.

In the early years of the nation the citizen with his rifle hanging above the fireplace ready for use was a vital part of the militia; indeed he was the militia. In light of that, maintaining the citizen's untrammelled right to have that gun at hand made practical sense. But times have drastically changed. The Colonial need for "a well-regulated militia" can no longer be used—not honestly, at any rate—to justify letting just anyone have guns.

Impact Of Import Cuts

In a speech at the annual convention of the California Bankers Association the other day, Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson uttered some blunt home truths about what proposed legislation to cut back on imports would do to the economy. His remarks deserve general attention, particularly among those who cling to the outmoded view that the way to help things at home is to curtail shipments of goods from abroad.

The legislation Peterson took out after is the so-called Burke-Hartke bill, formally the Foreign Trade Act of 1972. Were this bill to become law, Peterson noted, imports would be reduced by more than 10 billion dollars. More specifically, according to Department of Commerce estimates imports of cars and trucks would be cut back by a whopping 56 per cent, and of food by 15 per cent.

Anyone who concludes that this would not be so bad, since we produce plenty of cars and trucks and food ourselves, ignores the fact that trade is a two-way street. This view also fails to take into account another thing that tends to occur when the competitive stimulus of foreign goods is lessened: prices of U.S. products go up. Peterson observed that some experts figure passage of the Foreign Trade Act with its import cuts would bring price increases of from 10 to 15 billion on domestic goods.

This may be scare talk. We do not think so. In our judgment Peterson scarcely exaggerates when he says that the proposed cutback in imports "would be a national disaster for the United States and an international disaster for the world in which we live."

Communication

To the Editor:

This letter is in reference to your editorial comment entitled "A Pattern of Violence," in which you advocate more stringent handgun control legislation as a means of preventing or minimizing the possibility of such outrageous attacks on political figures, as recently happened with Governor Wallace. I strongly feel that registering guns is not the answer. It would appear that there are other things which are much more likely to contribute to the violence which is prevalent in our society, such as the great publicity given by the news media to crimes of violence, and the accepting of advertising by newspapers and other media for such movies as appear on the opposite page from your editorial, namely, "Sunday Bloody Sunday," "Tales from the Crypt," and "Little Murders." If the news media were as concerned with promoting the mental health of our nation as they are with selling advertising space for such trash, people of all ages would not be exposed to a continual diet of crime, violence, rape and murder. It is time we quit placing the blame on inanimate objects and begin looking at how we may be contributing to this pattern of violence. As important vehicles for informing the public and influencing public opinion, what do you feel that radio, television, movies, and the newspapers can do to help reduce the violence which is so prevalent in our society? I hope that you feel secure enough in your position as a proponent of public opinion, that you will publish a letter which is not in agreement with your views, and which may leave some opening for public criticism.

Nuclear Arms Agreement Relatively Loose

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are left relatively free to increase the size and improve the quality of their nuclear arsenals in the immediate future under the terms of the arms limitation agreement reached in Moscow Friday. The accords still allow the improvement of current systems as well as completion of programs already under way. As a result, the first stage of the so-called SALT agreement does little more than signal the future intent of the superpowers to slow their nuclear arms contest. The limits set out in the five-year pact and accompanying executive agreement are loose enough to provide room for a many-arms race should either nation decide to take full advantage of every inch of margin allowed. For instance, under the provision allowing improvement of existing systems the Soviet Union could push ahead with its reported plan to replace all 288 SS9 offensive missiles with larger ones capable of carrying 20 warheads each equipped with a 50-megaton bomb.

The United States now has 5,000 warheads for its 1,054 offensive missiles, and strategic bombers while Russia's less developed system includes 2,500 warheads for some 1,600 launchers.

However, the SALT treaty allows Moscow to develop more advanced MIRVs—multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicles—to a total of about 6,000.

Another option of increased weapons building involves submarine-based missiles. The U.S. fleet now consists of 41 subs carrying a total of 686 Polaris or Poseidon missiles. Friday's agreement allows the expansion to about 700 missiles.

The Russians have only 25 such submarines each equipped with three missiles, but the agreement allows Moscow, if it chooses, to build its fleet of Polaris-type vessels to more than 40.

Combined with conventional, missile-equipped subs, the Russians conceivably could have up to 950 undersea-based missiles.

Also covered in the agreement are defensive-ABM—missile systems. President Nixon on gave up one prospective ABM site in Montana, but he picked up the right to build a facility to protect Washington, D.C., as well as an ABM shield for offensive launchers in North Dakota.

On the Soviet side, an existing ABM site for Moscow can be increased and the Russians may build a protective system for one of its offensive rocket facilities.

This means each side can build to a total of 200 ABM launchers for their two sites.

Impossible Terms Pressed By Hanoi

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Rigid doctrinaire thinking may yet enable the North Vietnamese to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory.

President Nixon, along with mining Haiphong harbor, offered terms which would enable Hanoi to force a coalition government on Saigon and eventually to take over the South, lock, stock and barrel.

One might anticipate that North Vietnam would jump for the offer after some stalling. Hanoi has publicly said the terms are unacceptable. But such public statements, or even private messages to the United States, could be part of their normal diplomatic maneuvering.

However, it now appears North Vietnam is going to blow it.

Hanoi's men have told European sources known to this reporter that indeed they will in fact never negotiate so long as President Thieu and his government are in office, regardless of what terms are offered—even if the offers in fact would result in handing them South Vietnam on a platter.

Combined with the abdication of Thieu, Hanoi demands that it will negotiate only with a Saigon government set up in advance, with the connivance of the United States, dominated by men of Hanoi's choosing, and containing no one Hanoi chooses to veto. This before talks even begin.

If Hanoi sticks to these demands, it indicates a rigidity which could make it impossible for Nixon to negotiate.

For acceptance would mean that Nixon, not Hanoi, with no fig leaf to hide the deed, would be forced to openly install a Communist-dominated government without vote of the people or any pretense of a vote and do this before the negotiations.

This would make the United States an open ally of Hanoi in the takeover, and be so blatant a United States sellout of its principles and friends that it is difficult to see how anyone could trust this country again.

Perhaps this is what Hanoi wants more than it wants South Vietnam—or it may be Ho Chi Minh's successors now believe they can have both.

Many voices say the United States should just get out of Vietnam and let things go at that. What should be made clear now is that the evidence so far is that Hanoi is not willing to settle for that.

Hanoi seems to have made it crystal clear to Dr. Henry Kissinger that even if the United States were to pack up and leave "by a date certain," that would not be enough to insure the return of U.S. prisoners.

As the American negotiators understand the terms, Hanoi insists that before peace talks could seriously begin the United States would have to actually bring down Thieu and take the steps outlined above. Only then would Hanoi consent to talk about U.S. prisoners of war and their return.

If this sounds absurd, it is clearly the reading that Kissinger and his associates have on what the Communists are demanding.

Sees No Harm In Fantasizing

Dear Ann Landers: This is for the 38-year-old mother who confessed that she felt a slight tug of attraction for her daughter's 18-year-old boyfriend: No, you're not nuts, honey. Furthermore, I'll bet millions of women who read that column identified with you—but they wouldn't dare admit it, not even to themselves.

Our four daughters were teenagers at the time. I had small crushes on several of the boys who came to the house and it was harmless fun. Let's face it, a woman's romantic fantasies are stronger than a man's—and they last longer. By the time a husband approaches his late 30's, the fire has died down and married sex is pretty routine. What could be more natural than a mother reliving the excitement of young love through her daughter?

I say enjoy your secret thoughts and have a good laugh at yourself. Of course it's ridiculous, but there is no harm as long as you are the only one who is laughing.—Me, Too, in Anchorage

Dear Ann: The trick is to know it's ridiculous and to keep it funny. This is not so easy to do if the young boys sense you find them attractive. Mrs. Robinson. The REAL danger lies in the possibility that a perceptive daughter might get the idea you are competing with her. A well-balanced, middle-aged woman should be involved in living her own life. There is something quite sad about a mother who is reduced to seeking vicarious thrills by fantasizing about her daughter's boyfriends.

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago a bus hit our car. We had to get two estimates for repairs to satisfy the insurance company. After waiting a week for my husband to fill out the forms, he finally exploded at the dinner table and said he hadn't filled out a form in ten years, hated to fill out forms, and was going to ask his boss' secretary to do it for him.

I told him it was a "family" job; and if he didn't want to do it, I'd be happy to. He gave me a curt answer that made it quite clear that he didn't think I had enough brains to fill out the form properly. One word led to another and before I knew it we were having a big fight. I have my personal reasons for not wanting my husband to become involved in any projects with his boss' secretary. I told him so—in unmistakable language. He called me "childish," "insanely jealous" and a few other things.

Do you feel a wife has the right to protect her marriage against what she considers "dangerous elements"? I'd like your advice.—Ambridge, Pa.

Dear Ann: A wife does indeed have the right to protect her marriage against "dangerous elements," but your approach was not protective, it was destructive.

The sure way to drive a husband into the arms of another woman is by (a) constantly checking on him, (b) bombarding him with accusations, and (c) letting him know you don't trust him worth a darn.

A husband has a way of living up (or down) to a wife's opinion of him. Some men figure so long as they have the name they might as well have the game, and they go ahead and get into mischief they never would have thought of on their own.

Board president C. G. Colburn called the meeting to order and named new committees:

Teachers, William Huffman, Robert Jokisch and Leland Sweatman; transportation, Robert Jokisch, William Huffman, and Sharon Clark.

Hot lunch, William Huffman, Leland Sweatman and Robert Jokisch; policy, Leland Sweatman, Robert Moore and Sharon Clark; building, Harry Devlin, Leland Sweatman and Robert Moore.

Finance, Robert Jokisch, William Huffman and Harry Devlin; athletic, Harry Devlin, Sharon Clark and Robert Moore; purchasing, Leland Sweatman, Harry Devlin and William Huffman. The first person named is chairman.

Huffman reported for the salary committee that they had reached agreement with the system's teachers for a salary increase amounting to about 4.11 percent. The proposal passed.

President Colburn read letters of resignation from three grade school teachers, Mrs. Dorothy Yowell, Mrs. Neva Gilbert and Mrs. Della Millhouse.

Leland Schnake, superintendent of Cass County Education Service Region, was among area school administrators at a conference in Springfield on May 16th.

MURRAYVILLE AND WOODSON PTA MAKING PLANS

MURRAYVILLE — Officers of the Murrayville - Woodson PTA met recently at the home of Mrs. Loren Moehn in Woodson. Retiring officers told the new officers for 1972-73 duties of their particular job.

Many items of interest for the coming school year were discussed. It was decided representatives of the PTA will attend school board meetings during the coming year to keep the communities better informed of board activities.

A communication is planned for the newspaper at a later date. The "Volunteer" program will be one of the new programs stated during the 1972-73 year. Interested parents are urged to contact the PTA officers for details. Complete information will be available at the September PTA meeting, the location of which will be announced later, due to the uncertain future of Woodson School.

Tea and cookies were served by Mrs. Moehn. Those attending were Mrs. Merle Meggison, Mrs. Rene Menard, Mrs. Gary Winters, Mrs. Bill Suttles, Mrs. Dale Heaton, Mrs. Russell Clark, and Mrs. Moehn.

VIRGINIA BAR-B-Q WILL INTEREST ALL AGE GROUPS

VIRGINIA — Plans for the Virginia Bar-B-Q to be held June 16-18 include events and entertainment to interest persons of all ages.

Jack Carson and Eddie Rogers, chairmen of the amateur boxing event, plan to schedule 16 matches with a trophy for the winner of each match. This newly organized feature will be Saturday, June 17 at 2 p.m.

Judy Fultz, food tent chairman, reported that more food is being prepared this year in anticipation of a larger than usual crowd.

Teenage Dance chairman, Sherry Edlen, said that the Satin Jacks have been signed to play for the dance, Friday evening, June 16, in the home ec. building at the fairgrounds. Beverages will be served. Admission is $1.25 per person. The band will play from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight.

The Virginia High School band and chorus will perform Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. Featured at the Saturday evening program will be vocalist Linda Cassidy, accompanied by a top Western band. This same band will play for the street square dance to be held later that evening.

The Singing R's of Winchester will present a two-hour program Sunday at 2 p.m. A variety show from 7 to 9 Sunday evening will feature local vocalist, Harry Hackman, and drummer, Bruce Moore.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31 — Born today, you are a natural-born opportunist. Always first to see the possibilities of any given object or activity—and last to give up the search for those possibilities—you seldom fail to gain some profit from whatever circumstances or situations are upon you. You know how to make much of little, how to make little of nothing; even better, you know how to turn to other things when the possibilities of a circumstance or situation really do fail to emerge. In short, you make the best of whatever comes your way.

the art of the opportunist, you nevertheless should have little trouble making up your mind as to what career you will follow. You will very probably follow your earliest training into whatever line of work that training dictates; as for the rest of your talents, you will develop and make use of them through the judicious choice of hobbies to fill your leisure time. Whatever else you are, you will never be bored. It is completely outside your nature to find dull any activity, even the most difficult or the most quiet. You bring to whatever you are engaged in an enthusiasm and an energy that practically guarantees success. Undiscouraged by any failure, when you lose to another, you have the habit of picking up your marbles—and playing another game!

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

THURSDAY, June 1
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Though your plans for the future may be thought too fanciful by some, they strike loved ones as exciting and interesting. Try to follow through.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Not the day for insisting on the realistic view of things. You need to know just how far your imagination can take you safely and sanely.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — If the machinery is in good order, the work should be well done. Check the workings of your mind; you may want to do a bit of overhauling.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Take another look at your recommendations to younger family members. Perhaps you are overestimating the situation. Advise a reasonable approach.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Offer another profit and you may make a convert to your way of thinking. Be wise; take the realistic approach when seeking supporters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — Good timing is essential if you are to succeed in business today. Don't expect the competition to provide you with a lead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — A good argument clinched by a logic-light conclusion should see you successful in your attempt to sell your point of view to higher-ups.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Take care that the change you are encouraging doesn't come about too fast. You and the rest of those involved need time to adjust.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Concentrate on attaining a small goal; the larger ones will come in their own good time. Urge accomplishment on a young co-worker.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Be encouraging to one who would set out on a new and exciting adventure. You can provide the inspiration needed for another's real success.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Properly interests become important to your success in the near future. Check and double-check on the value of present holdings.

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—In the middle of last week, Harvey Glenn McLeod talked with his new boss about the future and a new lease on life. On Monday, McLeod, hunched down between parked cars, killed three persons and wounded eight others in a suburban parking lot.

Then, with police sirens wailing in his ears, he put the .22-caliber rifle barrel in his mouth and killed himself. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., was campaigning at the North Hills shopping center in an upper middle class white neighborhood. Seconds before the shooting began he walked inside a building.

Two women with whom Jordan had been talking were shot, one fatally. Jordan's press secretary, Wesley Hayden, was critically wounded.

Authorities discounted any possibility of an assassination attempt on Jordan, who had changed his schedule at the last minute to include the shopping center.

Relatives and friends of McLeod, a 22-year-old black janitor, could give no explanation for his action. Some said McLeod, who grew up in a shabby neighborhood and began accumulating a police record at 14, seemed content for the first time in his life.

Last Wednesday night, he asked his new employer, principal William Hooker of Broughton High School, about insurance and retirement programs. "He said he felt at last he had something going for him," Hooker said.

However, a neighbor of McLeod's parents said McLeod talked with his mother Monday morning and she said later he told her he wasn't "going to talk to anybody anymore."

Mrs. Willie McLeod said her son used to have "blackouts," but hadn't had any for two years. She said school officials had tried to get her to take him to Duke University Hospital for tests in 1962, but she refused to sign the necessary papers because "I didn't want them to mess with his brain."

McLeod walked into a hardware store later Monday morning and bought a .22 caliber Marlin carbine for $54 and three boxes of ammunition. He lied about his police record, which included two assault convictions, a larceny charge and a trespassing case.

"He was his usual self... nice and quiet," said the hardware cashier, Mrs. Rosa Rand, who had known McLeod all his life. The 6-foot-5, 180-pound McLeod then drove across Raleigh to the city's largest shopping center and got between two cars in a parking lot. He began shooting at "anything that moved."

Police said he fired 14 shots within two minutes. He had to reload once since the rifle had a 10-shot capacity.

Palace Guard To Pay Tribute

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace announced Tuesday that the Trooping of the Color in honor of the queen's official birthday Saturday, one of London's major tourist attractions during June, will not be canceled because of mourning for the Duke of Windsor.

Queen Elizabeth II decided that a tribute should be paid in London and that the Household Troops in which he served should have the opportunity of paying their last respects to him on parade.

Just before the queen rides out to the parade ground to take the salute, the pipes and drums of the guards will take a special position. There will be a roll of drums followed by a minute's silence timed by the toll of Big Ben. Then there will be another drum roll and the pipers will pipe a lament. Flags and drums will be swathed in black. Officers will wear mourning armbands.

The palace said it was unlikely the Duchess of Windsor would attend the ceremony but she "has expressed great pleasure" over it. She may watch it on television.

Although the queen was born on April 21—she was 46 this year—her birthday is always celebrated officially in June, when there is a better chance for good weather for the Trooping of the Color.

A Royal Air Force jet will bring the body of the duke Wednesday from Paris, where he died Sunday at the age of 77. The American woman for whom he gave up the throne in 1936 will travel with the body and for the first time since the abdication will stay at Buckingham Palace.

The duke will lie in state Friday and Saturday in St. George's chapel, at Windsor Castle, and the public will be allowed to file past the coffin. The funeral in the chapel Monday will be simple and private in accordance with the duke's instructions, attended by members of the royal family and high-ranking officials.

Burial will be in the small cemetery at Frogmore, in Windsor Park, where Queen Victoria and the duke's younger brother, the Duke of Kent, are buried. The duke chose that place of interment, instead of St. George's chapel, the traditional burial place of British monarchs, because the duchess could not be buried there.

Arthur Frainer Of New Berlin Dies Sunday

Arthur Frederick Frainer, 63, of New Berlin died at 5:45 p.m. Sunday at Norris hospital. He was a farmer.

He was born in New Berlin, son of Stephen Andrew and Susan Scanlon Frainer. On March 26, 1933, he married the former Lucille Courier in Winchester.

He is survived by his wife, Lucille; one son, Don E. of Yates City; one daughter, Mrs. Betty Sue Mogler of Rockford; and three grandchildren.

One sister, Mrs. Mary Cox of Springfield and one brother, Joseph of Springfield, also survive.

The deceased was a member of the Knights of Columbus. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Mary's Catholic church in New Berlin with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

McCullough Funeral Home is in charge.

THREE ACCIDENTS REPORTED SUNDAY CAUSE DAMAGE

Three accidents were investigated by city police Sunday resulting in some damage to the vehicles.

At 3:12 p.m. city police investigated an accident on West Morton just west of Westgate involving cars driven by Lester E. Martin, 74, of Route 1, Alexander and Diane L. Haschmeyer, 18 of Route 2, Clayton.

The Haschmeyer auto struck the rear of the Martin auto as it slowed for a car ahead. There were no injuries.

At 4:30 p.m. at South Fayette and West Morton cars driven by Jerry L. Dixon, 19, of 310 W. Vandalia and Robert J. Cooper, 21, of Wildwood, Illinois, were involved in a minor accident. Dixon was pulling from a parking lot and was struck by the Cooper vehicle.

J.A. Ross, 77, Dies Monday; Rites Wednesday

John Albert Ross of 1137 Elm street, died at 1:45 p.m. Sunday at Norris hospital. For 32 years Mr. Ross operated a service station at the corner of North Main street and Douglas avenue, retiring in 1963.

He was born in Jacksonville June 4, 1894, the son of John and Susan McGowan Ross. He married Helen Virginia May Covey March 1, 1944. She survives with a daughter, Shirley Ann Covey, at home. There are two brothers and one sister surviving, Harry E. of Shawano, Wisconsin; Fred of Jacksonville and Mrs. Adelaide Harney of Elgin. His parents, two brothers and two sisters preceded in death.

The deceased was a member of World War One Barracks 385, Past Commander of the local VFW and member of the American Legion Post 279.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Our Saviour's church with interment to be in Calvary cemetery.

The Reavy Funeral Home is in charge.

Oswald: "Anyone has a pretty good idea about what to do with ace, king, queen and jack."

Jim: "Most players also seem to have a fair idea about what to do with 10s and 9s. When they get down lower, they are inclined to treat those very small cards carelessly."

Oswald: "Just recently I watched a promising young player throw away an easy slam on account of this carelessness. He won the club opening and led the four of diamonds at trick two."

Jim: "Why do you say he is a promising young player? It is just automatic for a good player to lead the six of diamonds and not the four. Once he has made that careful first play, he is sure of his slam against any diamond combination except all four in the East hand. After his four-spot lead, the fact that East held three diamonds to the jack meant that he could never unblock the diamond suit for dummy's five and three."

Oswald: "Because he is not going to make that same mistake again. The moment the hand had ended with the defense scoring 100 points he turned to his partner and said, 'I certainly chucked you all over the lot that time.' The partner had no idea what had happened but this player knew."

Jim: "In that case he has a bright future. Everyone makes mistakes. The man who recognizes his will continue to improve."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

May Be Inherited Epilepsy Isn't A Rare Disease

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am an epileptic and never miss taking my medicine. I occasionally feel uneasy; but since I am aware of the symptoms in my case that precede a seizure, I immediately hope for it to pass, stop what I am doing and pray. One doctor told me epilepsy was inherited and another said it was not. What do you think? No one in my family has it. Do you think it is fair that in some states they ask if you have epilepsy when you get a driver's license? They don't ask about other diseases. I am sorry I cannot sign my name. You see I am not being honest either because my family doesn't know about me.

Dear Reader—You got a difference of opinion from two doctors because the answer is not yes or no. In the first place, if by epilepsy one means convulsions, there are several different types. Rare instances are caused by brain injury and brain tumors. Brain damage caused by injuries can be corrected in some instances.

The more common form of epilepsy with no apparent cause has been labeled as genetic, meaning it has some relationship to heredity. That does not mean a person who has epilepsy will have children who have this problem. Many individuals with this problem do not have a family history of epilepsy.

Only about three to five percent of the relatives of patients with this type of epilepsy also have it. If two individuals who both have epilepsy marry, the likelihood of their children having epilepsy is significantly increased. If an individual with epilepsy wanted to be reasonably certain not to have children with this problem, he should seek genetic counseling to determine insofar as possible if there is any increased likelihood of having children with epilepsy.

Regarding driver's licenses, all states will permit certain epileptics to obtain a driver's license. This has not always been true. Some states require, "in the interest of road safety," a doctor's certificate to indicate a period of freedom from convulsive episodes. An individual who has been free of episodes and is well controlled with his medicine is not likely to have any difficulty in obtaining a license in most states. By the way, a state which has a good control program in this area usually has insurance policies that are much cheaper for epileptics than those who do not.

The individual with epilepsy well controlled by medicines is certainly a much safer driver than the large number of individuals who have had one too many cocktails. There are probably more automobile accidents caused by heart disease than by epilepsy, if or no other reason than the high incidence of heart disease in our society. In general the whole concept of medical fitness for driving which should include medical, psychiatric, and drug use, including alcohol, needs a good overhaul. There would be a lot of difficulties in implementing any good program for this. Many of the people responsible for any such legislation, merely by virtue of their own age and their own disabling diseases, would oppose it.

It sounds like you are doing real well. My only concern is your secretiveness about your disorder. After all it is just another illness and there are about as many people who have

Getting A Job With The Right Appearance

What you wear for that interview will also depend to some extent on the caliber of job you're after. It is obvious that if you are being interviewed for an secretarial position that pays from $65 to $100 a week, wearing a $5,000 mink coat or lavish jewelry will not be good judgement even if your father is a millionaire. Obviously, a girl with a millionaires' wardrobe could only incur envy and animosity among a group of girls less richly endowed.

The basic elements of any business woman's wardrobe should rely on this trio: simple casual suits, tailored dresses and good separates. Also, in the modern offices you will find women wearing pant suits. These are very professional and business-like if you have an outfit that matches—not a blouse and slacks. Before you are interviewed for the job you want, try on the complete outfit you intend to wear. Look at yourself in the mirror from every angle, including sitting down which is the way you will look most of the time to the person who will make the decision. Ask yourself these questions: (a) Do I look well groomed? (b) Do I look neat? (c) Do I feel comfortable and at ease? (d) Does my skirt ride up too much? (e) Have I worn too much or too little make-up or jewelry? (f) Does this outfit really fit the image of the position I hope to fill? When you put yourself together too elegantly for a position that you desire, you may not obtain the position because of your dress not your skills. So be careful.

This doesn't mean that dressing to get a job should be an effort to make yourself less attractive. It means you should look your best—but your business best rather than your beau-catching best.

We at HOWARD'S, 121 S. EAST ST. will keep your office outfits looking fresh and tidy. Your garments will come out looking their best because we have the largest most up-to-date plant serving over 30 communities. So call us and we will pick up and deliver your clothes free—245-2215.

Finds Fixed Races In Trotting Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief investigator for the U.S. Trotting Association told a House committee Tuesday he had found fixed races in four states but had no evidence that organized crime was involved.

Raymond Traynor told the House Select Committee on Crime his security staff had investigated nine races in the nine years he had been with the trotting association. Five of the races were fixed, he said.

Traynor, a former FBI agent, was one of four witnesses who testified during the hearing Tuesday.

Traynor identified the fixed races as the eighth race at Scioto Downs in Ohio on Aug. 7, 1963; the ninth race at Hindsdale, N.H., on July 30, 1966, the fifth race at Hindsdale on June 25, 1966, the 10th race at Louisville Downs, Ky., on Aug. 12, 1971 and the seventh race at Wheeling Downs in West Virginia on Dec. 17, 1971.

A driver involved in the Hindsdale incident drew the longest suspension, Traynor said. But he said the driver, although still suspended indefinitely in New Hampshire, currently is driving in Maine.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., asked Traynor why drivers who were found to have participated in a fixed race were not suspended for life. Traynor said most state racing commissions

Top Sprint Drivers In Race Sunday

SPRINGFIELD — Talented Johnny Parsons, son of a famous Indy driver who has moved into the point lead in the USAC Sprint Car Division, heads a field of some 35 to 40 drivers on June 4 in the first sprint car program ever held on the one-mile Illinois State Fairgrounds track.

Although Rolie Beale of Toledo, Ohio won his third sprint feature of the year before his home town fans on May 20, Parsons by finishing third behind Charles Masters, added 29 points to his total, giving him 237 for the season, six more than Larry Dickson in second and 9 more than Beale.

Both Masters, who hails from Wilkey, Ky. is making a name for himself and now holds eighth place with 225 points. Sam Sessions, with 225 and Lee Kunzman with 189 are fourth and fifth respectively and each have sent in their entries for the Springfield race. Although Beale is the only Sprinter to win more than one feature, he has not competed in all the events.

Others among the first ten entered, include George Snider who is seventh with 144; Bruce Walkup, ninth with 118 and Joe Saidana, tenth with 103. Entries also have been received by Co-Promoters Joe Shaheen and Wink Bridges, from Larry (Boom Boom) Cannon, Bill Puterbaugh, Roger West, Jim McCune, Duane Carter Jr., Karl Busson, Duke Cook, Steve Unger, Merl Betenhausen, Chuck Booth, Benny Rapp, Larry Rice, Jerry Poland, Don Nordhorn, Bill Koptler, Gary Ponzini, Bob Pratt, Chuck Allen, Bill Cassels, Dan Hawley, Bob Shaw and Earl Wagner.

Four heat races will be followed by a semi-final and a 50-mile feature with time trials slated at 12:30 p.m. and the first race at 2:30. First four in each heat and the semi-final qualify for the 50-lapper. The program carries a guaranteed purse of $10,000. Grandstand tickets are $5 each and will be sold at the gate.

Following are the USAC Sprint Division point standings to date with the next race Saturday night June 3 at Knoxville, Iowa, followed by the race in Springfield Sunday afternoon.

1. Johnny Parsons 237
2. Larry Dickson 231
3. Rolie Beale 228
4. Sam Sessions 225

Opinions Differ On Kaat's Start

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney says it's the fastball that has fired left-hander Jim Kaat to his fast start. Kaat says it's control and team play.

Either way, Kaat is off to the best start of his 14 American League seasons with a 6-1 record that has helped the Minnesota Twins fight for the West Division lead.

Not even when Kaat, a 32-year-old Michigan native, won 25 games in 1968 did he get the start he has this year. "He hasn't pitched a bad game all year," said Rigney. "The difference with the last couple of years is his fastball. He's got the hitters believing in it, and he's got himself believing in it. He's not trying to get tricky."

Kaat, after posting a 25-13 record in 1968 and winning 16 in 1967, lost some velocity because of arm and thigh injuries. He underwent surgery in January, 1970 to have calcium deposits removed from his left thigh and won 14 games for the third year in a row.

Last season, he slipped to 13 victories but said he was not disappointed with his pitching. "Actually, I felt I was pitching as good last year as I did the year I won 25," Kaat said after a five-hitter Sunday against Texas gave him No. 6. "I was taken out of eight games with leads that we lost. Once it was 9-1 and another time it was 9-3."

The Twins, with their bullpen saving only 25 games, finished in fifth place in the West last year. But this year, the club is playing almost 10 games above .500, getting excellent relief from Wayne Granger and Dave LaRoche and getting big hits and big plays.

"We've been getting the runs and the defense," said Kaat. "A pitcher is only as good as the team behind him."

But Kaat has turned in a sparkling 1.11 earned run average with 31 strikeouts and only nine walks in 57 innings despite missing at least three starts with a shoulder injury.

Legion Divides 4 Games Over Long Weekend
The Jacksonville American Legion baseball team opened its season by splitting four games over the past weekend.

On Sunday the locals took Camp Point twice, 7-5 and 5-1, but fell twice at Macomb Monday, 11-0 and 5-3.

The opening game of the season saw Steve Chambers drive in a pair of runs in the sixth inning to snap a 5-5 tie. Dave Lampitt drove in three runs with a pair of hits, while Bill Turner fanned ten and walked six in a nine-inning tie.

Gordon Swisher's bases-loaded double was the big blow in a five-run third inning in the nightcap. Ron Seymour fired a two-hitter in the game, fanning ten and walking three batters. The game was halted by rain after five innings.

Macomb scored nine times in the first inning of the opener Monday. Chambers got the only hit off winner Tom Youngmeyer, a single in the fifth inning. Macomb scored a pair of unearned runs in the sixth to take the nightcap.

Lane Tech Shoots For Clean Mark

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Only two schools in 33 years have won the Illinois State High School Baseball championship with a perfect record.

Peoria Manual, 25-0, did it in 1950 and LaGrange, 24-0, in 1967.

Lane Tech of Chicago is a good bet to become the third. The Indians will start their run for it Thursday as an eight-team field is whittled to the semifinals Friday morning.

Those winners will clash for the title Friday at 7:30 p.m. CDT at Meinen Field—the first night game for the prep baseball championship since 1957.

Lane will take a 27-0 record against Kankakee Eastridge, 20-4, in Thursday's first afternoon game starting at 2 p.m. This will be followed by another lower bracket contest sending Putnam County, 23-6, against Alton, 16-6.

Niles West, 17-4, opens the quarter-finals at 9:30 a.m. against Olney, 11-4. Two hours later another upper bracket game pits Marissa, 30-4, against Canton, 26-12.

Lane, state champion in 1945 and 1956, will be making its 11th trip to the Peoria showdown. Second baseman Jack Rockwell, with a .354 batting average, is the only regular returning from the 1971 semifinals.

The Indians have a fine blend of hitting and pitching. Right-hander Jim Henning has a 12-0 record and three batters have .436 or better averages, topped by Bob Crum with .470.

The Eastridge Raiders' mound staff is headed by right-hander Jeff Scott. He is 9-1 with a 0.53 earned run average and 109 strikeouts. Power at the plate comes from L. C. Nuttall, .362, and Bruce Carmiche, .342.

A new champion is assured. Waukegan, 1971 winner, was eliminated.

Niles West, the 1964 runner-up, has an outstanding hurler, southpaw Barry Mueller. He is 9-1 and has yielded only one earned run in 69 2-3 innings.

The Indians' leading batter is Paul Kilpovitch with .341. Mueller's only loss came Monday when Waukegan defeated the Indians 8-3.

Pitcher Jay Jared has won all 11 of the Olney Tigers' victories. Power at the plate is provided by basketball star Rich Bussard who is hitting at a .425 clip with 20 RBIs and has stolen 19 bases.

Marissa's Meteors are making their first tourney trip and are the smallest school entered with enrollment of 277. Pitchers Tom Duffie, 16-2, and Tim Phillips, 11-2, alternate at first base with the latter also the No. 1 batter with .413.

Canton's Little Giants are a versatile and flexible team with a one-two pitching punch of Les Hunter, 7-2, and Steve Preece, 8-2. Ray Loy at .395 and Pat Jackson .321 lead at the plate. Lefty Tom Pomatto is 8-1 on the mound and .394 at the plate for the Putnam County Panthers. Right-hander Jim Morley has an 8-0 record.

Matlack Continues Perfect, Wins 7-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Jon Matlack fired a three-hitter for his sixth victory and Rusty Staub drove in four runs, leading the New York Mets to a 7-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Matlack, a 22-year-old left-hander whose last victory was a five-hitter against the Phils, went the route for the second time this year, striking out six and walking five.

He allowed only Larry Bowa's clean single to left field in the fourth inning. Terry Harmon's infield hit in the eighth and Mike Anderson's single up the middle in the ninth as the Mets, taking advantage of Pittsburgh's rainout at Montreal, widened their National League East lead over the Pirates to four games.

Staub, who had two singles and two doubles, gave Matlack all the runs he needed in the first inning. After a walk and Tommie Agee's single, Staub cracked a two-run double to right off Steve Carlton, 5-4, who lost his fifth straight game. In the third, Willie Mays and Bud Harrelson walked, Staub singled for one run and Cleon Jones hit a sacrifice fly to make it 4-0.

The Mets knocked Carlton out in the fifth as Harrelson led off with a triple and, one out later, Staub, Jones and Jim Fregosi singled for two more runs.

They closed the scoring in the eighth as Jerry Grote walked and Mays and Harrelson singled. Phils 000 000 0-0 8 0

Culps 3-Hitter Nets 6-0 Shutout Over Baltimore
BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson's error opened the door to three Boston runs in the second inning and Carlton Fisk and Tommy Harper clubbed home runs as the Red Sox rode Ray Culp's three-hitter to a 6-0 victory over Baltimore Tuesday night.

Rico Petrocelli walked and Doug Griffin singled to start the second-inning outburst against Mike Cuellar, 2-4. Fisk followed with a grounder to third, but when Robinson booted the potential double-play ball, the bases were loaded.

Culp then squeeze-bunted the first run home and, after Harper drew a two-out walk to again load the bases, Luis Aparicio drilled a two-run single to center.

With one out in the fourth, Fisk unloaded his second homer of the season, over the right center field wall. And after Culp singled, Harper crashed homer No. 6 to left, knocking Cuellar out of the game.

Culp, 4-4, struck out four and walked four in his third complete game of the year. He yielded only singles to Merv Rettenmund in the third inning, Mark Belanger in the fifth and Terry Crowley in the ninth.

Hand Sparkles As Texas Ends Loss Skein, 3-2
ARLINGTON (AP) — Rich Hand allowed Oakland three hits in 8 1-3 innings Tuesday night as the Texas Rangers broke a three-game losing streak by beating the A's 3-2 on Toby Harrah's seventh-inning sacrifice fly.

The Rangers tagged Ken Holtzman, 7-3, for seven hits in as many innings including a leadoff home run by Ted Ford in the fourth inning for a 2-1 lead.

Dave Duncan retaliated for the A's with his 10th homer in the seventh. A leadoff double by Joe Rudi in the fourth led to the A's first run. Rudi was sacrificed to third by Sal Bando and scored on George Hendrick's sacrifice fly.

Ken Suarez opened the third with a single and scored from third on a double play for the first Ranger run.

Kline Makes Most Of 36 Hour Leave

NEW YORK (AP) — Spec. 4 Steve Kline was back at Camp Drum, N.Y. Tuesday, baby-sitting the communications equipment of the 250th Signal Battalion.

Kline is a part-time soldier for the U.S. Army and full-time pitcher for the New York Yankees. With the 250th doing its two-week summer stint at the upstate military base, Kline had missed one start and gone 12 days between pitching appearances.

He latched onto a 36-hour pass over the weekend and spent a couple of those hours Monday pitching the Yankees to a 5-1 victory over Mickey Lolich and the Detroit Tigers.

The young right-hander was still enjoying his victory when someone asked him what he'd be doing when he got back to soldiering.

"I don't know what they'll have me doing tomorrow," said Kline. "Maybe guard duty, maybe KP, almost anything. So far, I've been working on a van manning a radio, telephone and some intercom equipment."

In between playing lineman for the army communications people, Kline has been doing a little throwing too. "I've been able to throw every other day and do some running too," he said.

Still, going 12 days without throwing a baseball in competition isn't the very best way for a pitcher to keep his arm in shape. And working against Lolich, who won eight of his first 10 decisions this season, isn't the very best way to get a "W" next to your name in the box score.

For six innings, Lolich and Kline matched zeroes on the scoreboard. Then, in the seventh, the Yankees reached the Tiger lefty on Roy White's lead-off single, a ground rule double by John Ellis and sacrifice flies by Ron Swoboda and Hal Lanier.

When Detroit lifted Lolich for a hitter in the eighth, the Yankees took advantage of the soft underbelly of the Tiger bullpen, adding three runs against four relievers. The major part of the offense was walks—four of them—and a bases-loaded double by Rusty Torres.

The parade of relievers, and bases on balls, gave Kline a long time in the dugout—too long. In the ninth, he lost his edge all at once and the Tigers started thumping him. When Mickey Stanley tripled home a run with two out, Manager Ralph Houk went for Sparky Lyle.

"I wanted to stay," said Kline. "But I knew I was going. I told Ralph, I was lucky to go this far."

Kline can spend his final week of military work thinking about his next start. It will be June 7 in Texas and he won't be up against Lolich there. He'll only have to worry about Big Frank Howard.

American Duo British Winners

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Dick Siderowf and Ed Tutwiler, former U.S. Walker Cup players, tamed the high wind on the Royal St. George's links Tuesday and cruised into the third round of the British Amateur Golf Championship in style.

Siderowf, of Westport, Conn., took the first six holes of his match against David Farrar of Kenya and went on to win 7 and 6.

Tutwiler, of Indianapolis, played steady golf in the difficult conditions to eliminate Peter Holt of Britain 5 and 4.

They were joined in the third round by two more Americans. Marty West of Chevy Chase, Md., beat Neil Nelson of Portland, Ore. Kemp Richardson of Laguna Niguel, Calif., downed Michael Dixon of Britain, 1-up. The two Walker Cuppers both had an easy time on a day when American victories were scarce. Only three of 13 U.S. players advanced in first round play Tuesday. That meant 18 Americans out of 43 reached the second round.

The sensation of the day was a 14-year-old Scottish schoolboy, named David Robertson, who reached the 13th hole four under par to beat Peter Van Ingen 21, of Locust Valley, N.Y., 7 and 5.

The Scottish lad, who is only 5 feet 3 inches tall, but weighs 170 pounds, outdrew Van Ingen on every hole and putted like a master. On the long seventh-an awkward dog leg where two huge sand traps are waiting for any ball that wanders off line—he rolled in a 25-foot putt for an eagle three.

"The kid was amazing," Van Ingen said. "It was a real pleasure to watch him play even though I lost."

Michigan Edges Out Spartans For Loop Title

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan has edged out Michigan State in an unofficial Big Ten all-sports championship compiled for the 1971-72 athletic year.

Michigan has won six times over the past nine years and MSU three times, including last year.

Michigan led the field this year with a rating of 8.17 points to 7.61 for Michigan State. Other conference placements, in order, were: Indiana, 6.29; Minnesota, 6.04; Illinois, 5.82; Wisconsin, 5.61; Ohio State, 5.25; Iowa, 4.68; Purdue, 4.27, and Northwestern, 3.20.

The ratings are figured by dividing the number of sports in which a school participates in Big Ten championship competition into the total number of points made in these sports, with 10 for first, nine for second, eight for third, and so on.

Michigan won titles in football and tennis, placed second in hockey, swimming and gymnastics, placed third in cross country and wrestling, tied for third in baseball and basketball, was fourth in golf and outdoor track and fifth in indoor track.

Michigan State won titles in cross country, wrestling, indoor and outdoor track, more than any other conference school.

MSU also was second in baseball, third in hockey, tied for third in football, was fourth in fencing and swimming, fifth in gymnastics and golf, tied for fifth in basketball and was seventh in tennis.

The listing is compiled by Michigan State.

Three Tourneys Played At Club

Three separate golf tournaments were played over the past weekend at the Jacksonville Country Club.

The team of E. P. Hohmann, Ben Montee, Art Lauff and Bob Hierman took the special "horse race" event with a 152 team total. Following were Tom Gee, Max Roegge, Bill Sumpter and Jim Christofferson and Jim Bunch, Elmer Lukeman, Lawrence Murphy and Sonny Grant with 143's.

In the 'A' weekend tourney Bill Ware fired a 73 minus a 16 handicap for a 66 net and Paul Snow turned in a 73-7-66 to share top honors. In 'B' it was Howard Hemmrough 80-18-64 and Sam Plinson 81-14-67.

In 'C' Harry Crabtree 82-21-61 and Walt Hamilton 83-17-66 and in 'D' Bill Chalk 91-23-68 and Ralph Withee 95-22-73.

In the mixed event Rev. and Mrs. Ron Colton won with a 47-28-19. Following were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snow 43-23-20, Mr. Lloyd Wilson and Bill Doyle 47-25-23, Mr. and Mrs. Don Craddock 52-25-23, Mr. and Mrs. Don Pavlick, 51-23-23 and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eard 52-23-24.

There was almost another sensation later when Michael Bonallack, British Walker Cup captain who has won the title five times, trailed Simon Breis of Britain by three holes with five to play. But Bonallack came back to win on the last hole with ice-cool golf that showed why he is favored to win the tournament.

Subversion Control Board Reorganized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House shouted down an attempt to scrap the Subversive Activities Control Board Tuesday. Then it voted 226 to 105 to empower the President to revitalize the panel with new work under a new name.

Opponents headed by Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., claimed the revisions recommended by the Internal Security Committee could prompt "a new era of McCarthyism" by excluding people from federal jobs through guilt by association.

But sponsors of the change, led by Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, maintained the legislation endorsed by the Nixon administration is necessary to protect the government from modern sources of subversion.

By voice vote, the House turned down a proposal by Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., that would have abolished SACB and created a Federal Employee Security and Appeals Commission.

The Preyer bill would have set up a "constitutional oath support" law containing machinery for screening federal job applicants on loyalty and security grounds.

The Ashbrook bill, which was sent to the Senate where it is expected to encounter fresh difficulty, would rename SACB the Federal Internal Security Board. This board would be assigned new tasks of helping spot subversives and of keeping them out of federal jobs.

The five-member board is 22 years old. Those on it, each drawing $86,000 a year, did virtually nothing for months after the Supreme Court overruled their power to hunt, register and publicize Communist groups.

The Ashbrook bill gives the new board subpoena power and the authority to go to court to enforce its orders.

HURRICANE SEASON DUE THURSDAY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Atlantic hurricane season opens Thursday and the chances of disaster will be greater than at any time in recent years along the heavily populated coasts of the Atlantic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico, a government scientist says.

Lines of detection and warning are ready for operation between June 1 and Dec. 1. In recent years, the system has greatly reduced death tolls of the howling tropical storms.

But the problem, says Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center at Miami, is that more and more people are moving to warm weather coasts, including those areas most vulnerable to storm damage.

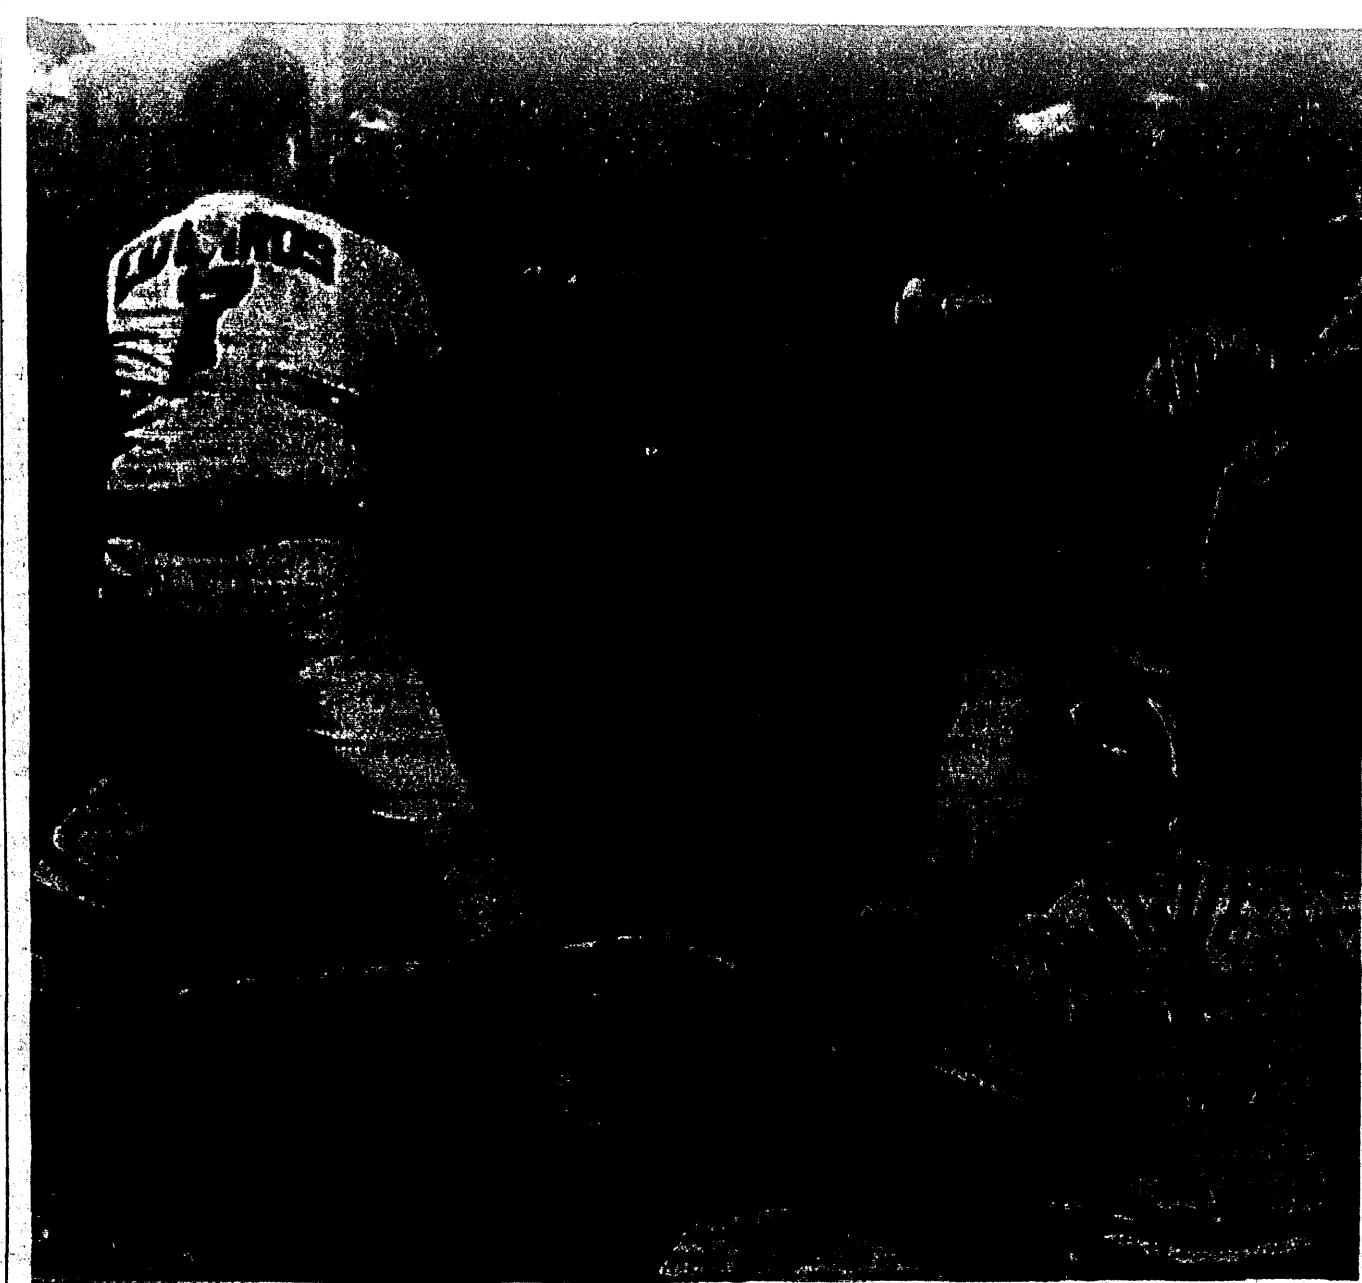

"The risk of a major disaster from a hurricane on the coastal United States is greater and continues to increase at a remarkable rate," Simpson said.

If 1972 is an average season, 10 tropical storms will form and be named. The first 10 this year will be called Agnes, Betty, Carrie, Dawn, Edna, Felice, Gerda, Harriet, Irene and Jane. Six of them, if averages are followed, will become full-blown hurricanes. They'll kill 60 persons between Texas and Maine and cause hundreds of millions of dollars in property damage.

The first line of detection and warning is the ATS-3 satellite, which hovers 22,300 miles above the equator, matching its orbital velocity to that of the rotating earth. It will click its cameras every 20 minutes at tropic zones where hurricanes are spawned.

Also on the early line are commercial and military aircraft and ships which send hundreds of reports daily on winds, seas, and barometric pressures to the National Weather Service.

After analyzing all this data, the Hurricane Center goes to the second line of detection and warning. This is the fleet of military "hurricane hunter" pilots which fly planes into the storms for the only true measurements of their size and fury. When the hurricane moves within 150 miles of the U.S. mainland or Puerto Rico, they meet the third line—the radar fleet extending from Miami westward to Brownsville, Tex., and north to Boston.

Bench Hits Pair As Cincinnati Rips Astros 9-5

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Bench drilled a pair of home runs—one of them an inside-the-park shot—knocking in four runs to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-5 victory over the sagging Houston Astros.

Jack Billingham, 2-6, with ninth-inning relief help when the Astros scored their final three runs, handed Houston its fourth straight defeat.

Bench got the Reds started with his inside-the-park homer in the second. His fly ball bounced high off the left-center field wall and ricocheted back toward the infield as Bench scooted around the bases.

Houston tied it in the third as Doug Rader doubled and Roger Metzger singled but the Reds loaded the bases in the sixth and Bench singled home the go-ahead run off Don Wilson, 3-4. Joe Hague's sacrifice fly and Denis Menke's single added two more runs.

A wild pitch gave Cincinnati a seventh-inning run, John Edwards singled to knock in a Houston run in the bottom of the inning, then the Reds wrapped it up with four in the ninth on Tolán's two-run triple and Bench's second homer and eighth of the year.

Light-Hitting Roof Lets Twins Top Royals, 3-2

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Phil Roof, hitting .190 at game time, powered the Minnesota Twins past Kansas City 3-2 Tuesday night with his first two home runs of the season.

Roof, who last hit a homer with Milwaukee last year before a midseason trade brought him to the Twins, broke a 1-1 tie when he opened the second inning with a 365-foot clout off Paul Splittorff.

The Twins' catcher then connected again to lead off the fourth, his 364-foot shot off Bruce Dal Canton breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

Roof's rare homers supported Jim Perry's fourth victory, which was preserved by Dave LaRoche's eighth-inning relief. Perry had retired 12 straight batters after Steve Hovley hit his first homer since 1969 until he worked out of a jam with two runners in scoring position in the seventh.

Harmon Killebrew drove in a Minnesota run in the first with a groundout. The Royals got the run back in the second on a double by Amos Otis and a two-base error by Tovar, who bobbed Paul Schaal's drive at the warning track in right field.

Pitching dominated a pair of Elks Little League contests Monday night, with the Cards nipping the Giants 3-2 and the Red Sox blanking the Yanks 4-0.

Danny Griffin twirled a nifty no-hitter that included 13 strikeouts for the winning Red Sox, who squared their mark with the Yanks at 5-2.

Chuck Colburn fired a one-hitter for the Cards, who drew even with the Giants with a 4-3 mark. Frank Kaufmann walked with the bases loaded in the bottom of the sixth to cap a Cards' rally.

Mosley and Bockemeier combined for a 64-60-124 total for a three stroke margin over Tom Gee and Mike Way's 63-64-127.

Following were Tom and Bill Kline 66-62-128 and Frank Harris-Jim Reynolds 65-67-132 and Bud Vandiver-Don Hardesty 67-65-132.

Famous End Still Likes The Action

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Military Academy's first "lonesome end" still doesn't like waiting around for the action. He'd rather be scrambling.

"I don't like to do anything you have to stand in line to do," says Maj. William S. Carpenter, who helped the Army football team to an undefeated season in 1958 and became an All-American player in 1959.

Still a taut 212 pounds on his 6-foot-2 frame, Carpenter returned in June 1970 to West Point, where he is a senior infantry instructor.

"I would much prefer to be with the troops somewhere," he said. "I don't really like the academic atmosphere. I don't like to teach. You do the same thing four days in a row. You do the same thing next year that you did this year. It's kind of boring."

Born in Woodbury, N.J., in 1937, Carpenter grew up in the Philadelphia area and was graduated from nearby Springfield High School. He entered West Point in 1956.

He joined the football team, and Coach Earl "Red" Blaik adopted the "lonesome end" formation, which left Carpenter on the line while his teammates huddled. He knew what plays they had planned by watching hand signals. Army was ranked third in the nation that year.

"It was nothing more than a standard wing T formation," Carpenter says now.

The football hero, who has twice volunteered for Vietnam duty, became a military hero in 1968, when he called for an air strike on his company in danger of being overrun by the enemy.

Carpenter was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for his tactic, which kept the enemy quiet long enough for him to regroup defenses and save his men.

"I just called for an air strike," he remembers. "If I had known it was napalm, I wouldn't have asked for it."

Besides the nation's second-highest military honor, Carpenter has also been awarded a Purple Heart and a Silver Star. He says he has not played football since 1963, but he spends about three hours a day working with the football team in season. He keeps trim by playing handball.

Carpenter says the cadets of today are less committed to military life than were the ones of his day. He also finds them more questioning.

The photograph in Carpenter's yearbook shows that he, however, has changed little. His hair is still closely cropped and his bearing remains commandingly military.

Now married to the former Toni Vigliotti, of Central Valley, N.Y., he has three athletically inclined sons—9, 7 and 6 years old.

Sparked by Chris Keller's home run, Fanning Oil recovered from a six-run deficit to tie the contest in the seventh. Keller's two-run shot was the first ever hit out of the park by a pony leaguer. A bases-loaded walk forced in the tie-breaker in the tenth.

Langdon got away fast with an eight-run third frame. Mike Walker had a single and double and Jon Huston fired no-hit ball for three innings, adding a pair of hits at the plate. Jay Dickman had a home run and double for the losers.

Ira Berkow
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Denny McLain has touched us at nearly every point in the emotional spectrum.

There was dramatic joy in following his chase toward a 31-game winning season in 1969, loathing at his purported gambling associations in 1969, and a sense of justice when he was suspended. (Had he not betrayed our trust in him as a "hero" in the "national pastime"?)

There was sympathetic forgiveness when a repentant McLain returned to the Detroit Tigers in mid-season, 1970, and received a standing ovation; an indifference — he had rubbed our sensitivities so raw — when he was again suspended late that season for some childish quirky activities.

There was sadness when he tried vainly to recapture his former pitching powers with the Washington Senators last season, but wound up with a 10-23 record, the worst in baseball.

Now this spring the Oakland A's have shipped him to the minor leagues. It leaves us despondent.

Denny McLain is 23 years old, going on 122, in calendar years, must athletes his age are reaching a peak. It is a time when there is the greatest degree of physical magic.

Yet McLain, an eight-season big-leaguer, is now buffeted by the most sorrowful of phrases for an athlete, the charge that he is "all washed up."

Oakland A's Manager Dick Williams says that McLain "has lost the velocity on his fast ball" and that "Denny could not help a single major-league team the way he has been throwing."

"I can't believe it," said McLain recently, in a telephone conversation. "I can't believe that I'm through in the big leagues, that no other team could use me."

Eighteen other major league teams were called, were asked to pick up McLain and his $75,000 salary. All refused. But McLain has no thoughts of giving up baseball. "They'll have to tear the uniform off me," he said.

There are few other places he could command such a magnificent salary. Besides, he has spent every day since high school playing baseball professionally. There is not much else he is capable of doing. He knows from bitter experience that he is not a business genius, and declared bankruptcy a couple of years ago to prove it.

He has learned to live high, and home responsibilities are growing. His wife is expecting their third child soon.

Hopes this spring were as buoyant as they were in the '60s, when he was a young, strong idol full of brashness and achievement. He had been traded in early March from the down-trodden Senators-Texas Rangers to the A's, a pennant contender. And then the swift, seemingly callous cut. "I've only pitched five games," he said. "And there is nothing wrong with my arm. People say I don't throw as fast as I used to, but hell, I was never a fast ball pitcher. I've always relied on control. This season my control is the strike zone has been high. That will come around, though."

He began this season with a win. Then he lost two straight in his next two starts he was knocked out of the box and received no decision. His earned run average was a shoddy 6.14 in 22 innings.

Williams said that McLain had been absolutely no trouble for him, and that if anyone could come back, McLain could. "He has great drive and dedication," said Williams. "Guys like Jim Lonborg and Jim Palmer went down to the minors and they returned to the big leagues. So could Denny. McLain could not be so sanguine about the minors, even though he has been emotionally rocked so many times in the past. The low point being,

Brown's Shoe Fit and Kaiser Supply notched narrow victories and Ranson Insurance had an easy time in YMCA National Slow Pitch League action at Nichols Park Tuesday evening.

Brown's Shoe Fit nipped Byers Brothers 7-6 with a run in the bottom of the seventh on Terry Brogdon's hit.

Kaiser Supply edged Virginia Merchants 6-4 in a 38-minute contest, with a three-run fourth inning the key. Virginia, which held a 10-7 hitting edge, was sparked by Don Reynolds' three-for-three night at the plate.

Ranson jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first and topped Gale's TV 18-5 with Bob Camden going four-for-four at the dish.

Lincoln Revolves Around Football

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—In Rome, much of the daily life revolves around the Pope and the Vatican.

Here in Lincoln, all of it is wrapped up in the University of Nebraska football team and nothing else.

Without question, this has to be the football capital of the world.

Where once such cities as South Bend, Ind.; Columbus, O.; Austin, Texas; Ann Arbor, Mich.; and Tuscaloosa, Ala., might have felt they were the prime symbol of college football everywhere, there can be no possible dispute over which city has all the credentials today.

Lincoln, Nebraska. "We're number one." "We're number one." "We're number one."

The football season has been over nearly six months now but nobody recognizes that here.

People regulate their daily habits, their jobs, their vacations, their lives by the Cornhusker football. They go a step further. They regulate their love life by it.

Jim "Pit" Pittenger, a chain-smoking, toothpicking dynamo who is Nebraska's assistant athletic director and ticket manager as well as the closest thing to perpetual motion you'll find, tells of a recent cocktail party where he ran into a couple he had known a long time.

It is redundant to say they were Nebraska fans because everybody in Lincoln is—or else he leaves in a hurry.

Anyway, the couple at this particular party were not that young. They weren't the type you'd think would have any more kids now either. The man was 46 and although the woman was some years younger, well, she simply didn't seem the sort to be bearing children anymore.

But Pittenger couldn't help noticing she was pregnant. "Congratulations," he said to her. "It looks like you're expecting."

"Yeah," the husband grumbled at Pittenger. "You and your damn games in Hawaii!"

The Cornhuskers wound up their regular 1971 season by romping over Hawaii, 45-3 in Honolulu last December.

Football Everywhere

No matter where you go in Lincoln, you see some evidence of Nebraska's football team, even now when all the football players are back home.

Nebraska's school colors are red and white.

Lincoln looks like somebody bought up all the red paint in the country and applied it to everything you can possibly think of and some of those things you never would.

There are red suits, red hats, red shoes, red typewriters, red attache cases and red curtains on windows.

The most important chair in all Lincoln, the one used by athletic director and head coach Bob Devaney in his private office, is red.

Bumper stickers on cars read: "We're number one."

You see the same sign everywhere, in stores, hotels, offices, garages and on local TV.

Nebraskans talk about Devaney as if he were some heavenly deity, and their football team as if it was anointed by the angels. He was named coach of the year by his own record in the nation among all college coaches. In 15 years of coaching, his teams have won 127 games, lost 28 and tied six. In 10 years at Nebraska, he has won 82, lost 18 and tied one.

He, more than anybody else, generally is credited with molding the Cornhuskers into the No. 1 team in the nation and in doing so, the rotund, 57-year-old Devaney has wrought a significant change in the lives of people in Nebraska.

"It has been a tremendous shot in the arm for the state of Nebraska insofar as prestige, the human ego and even the economy is concerned," says Don Bryant, the capable, congenial Cornhuskers' Sports Information Director whom everyone calls "the fat fox."

"The difference between being No. 1 and say for example, being No. 10, is unbelievable. During the season we're swamped with requests for information, literature and emblems pertaining to the team. Even now, when we're not even playing, a day doesn't go by when we don't get calls. Nebraska has always had a rich football heritage. Even when we had losing teams, we'd average close to 30,000 fans a game; but now it's fantastic."

High Attendance

Last season, the Cornhuskers averaged better than 60,000 for each home game. They're in the process of adding 9,000 seats to concrete-saucered Memorial Stadium and already have had 14,000 applications for those seats.

It's no use trying to get a ticket for any Nebraska games this year because they're all sold out—the same as they have been the past five years. "A season ticket has become a status symbol," explains Pittenger, who was an advance man for the late Dwight Eisenhower during the 1952 presidential campaign.

With all this phenomenal success, there's still one small fly in the ointment, however.

Bob Devaney, who has always given credit to his 10 assistant coaches—Tom Osborne, who will succeed him next year; Jim Ross; John Melton; Mike Corgan; Warren Powers; Monte Kiffin; Jim Walden; Carl Selmer; Bill Myles and Cletus Fischer—has received considerable credit himself.

In Devaney's office there is a handsome gold plaque which was presented to him by Richard M. Nixon. He has also been honored as Coach of the Year by UPI, The Football Writers Association and by the Football News among others.

But he never has been voted coach of the year by his own colleagues, the Football Coaches Association of America.

A little thing like that can bother a man a lot.

Foyt Slated For Surgery On Ankle

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Doctors say the broken ankle suffered by race car driver A. J. Foyt is damaged worse than they first feared, and that surgery was necessary.

An operation was scheduled for today, and it was expected to keep Foyt out of racing for at least two months.

Foyt broke his ankle in a mishap Sunday during a 100-mile race at Du Quoin, Ill. The day before, in the Indianapolis 500, Foyt had to leave the race after only 60 laps because of engine trouble.

Foyt was flown to Houston Monday for treatment of the broken ankle, and doctors discovered ligaments had been torn, requiring surgery.

"He came in for fuel and when his crew was taking the hose from the tank, it jerked up somehow, and fuel fell on the hot tailpipe," said Foyt's wife. "He jumped out immediately and the car ran over his left ankle."

Foyt suffered first and second degree burns over his face, hands and legs in the incident. "The burns aren't real bad," his wife said. "It's the broken ankle that seems to be giving him the most trouble right now. He's in no danger. He has some pain of course, but he's feeling pretty good."

Foyt's crew will attempt to find a new driver for the Pocono 500 in Pocono, Pa., July 2.

Kaiser Supply Claims Ransom Tournery Title

Kaiser Supply of Jacksonville captured its second tournament crown in as many weeks Sunday by sweeping the second annual Ransom Insurance Memorial Day Slow Pitch tilt at the State Hospital diamond.

The defending champion Kaiser Supply team took four straight games for the top prize, with Jim's Discount Foods of Jacksonville runner-up, host Ransom Insurance third and Jacksonville VFW fourth.

The winners, now 12-0 for the season, downed Virginia Angelo's 18-1, Jim's Discount 24-6, Ransom Insurance 16-11 and Jim's Discount 17-10. Jim's Discount had victories of 11-8 over Waverly Riding's, 9-2 over Ashland Indies, 22-19 over VFW and 14-13 over Ransom.

In individual awards in the tournament, Don Kording was the top average hitter with 12 hits and 18 at bats, Willie Kording won the home run crown with seven and Karl Jones of Jim's was the top RBI producer with 19.

Orioles Regain Familiar Spot

By United Press International
The Baltimore Orioles are thankful to the rest of the American League for the pleasure of their company but they feel it's time to go. And go for the Orioles means on to their fourth consecutive league title.

The Orioles, on the strength of Pat Dobson's five hitter and Merv Rettenmund's three hits, beat the Cleveland Indians for the fourth straight time Monday, 6-1. The victory, combined with Detroit's 5-1 and 4-2 doubleheader loss to the New York Yankees, boosted the Orioles into first place in the AL East, a half-game ahead of the Tigers.

Dobson's victory also completed the cycle for Baltimore's "Big Four" pitching staff, which also includes Dave McNally, Mike Cuellar and Jim Palmer. The Orioles' staff held Cleveland to just four runs and 19 hits in sweeping the four-game series.

Rettenmund had a single, a double and a triple and scored two runs and Boog Powell snapped out of his slump with a pair of singles to highlight the Baltimore offense. Rettenmund tripled in the first and scored on Don Baylor's single and Powell drove in Baylor after he stole second. Johnny Oates' RBI double and wild pitch accounted for two more runs in the fifth and back-to-back doubles by Rettenmund and Bobby Grich and Paul Blair's single added two more in the sixth.

"I think the rest of the league did us a real favor in letting us stay with them until now," said Rettenmund. "We're capable of getting hot now and running away with things. I think we've got the best club since 1969, man-for-man."

In other AL action, Oakland swept Texas, 4-1 and 7-1; California beat Chicago, 3-2, in 10 innings after losing the doubleheader opener, 5-4; Milwaukee clubbed Boston, 11-3, at Kansas City at Minnesota was rained out.

Rookie Rusty Torres slammed two-run pinch-hit doubles in both games to help the Yankees sweep Detroit and knock the Tigers out of first place in the AL East. Torres' double in the opener helped New York beat Mickey Lolich and his two-run double in the sixth inning of the second game rallied the Yankees from a 2-1 deficit. Sparky Lyle saved both games for New York, his eighth and ninth of the season.

George Hendrick hit a three-run homer in the opener and Mike Epstein had a three-run shot in the second game as Oakland swept the Rangers.

Joe Horlen pitched 5 2-3 innings of scoreless relief to gain the victory in the opener and rookie Dave Hamilton, just called up from the minors, went 6 1-3 in the second game, allowing only one run to pick up his first major league victory.

Leroy Stanton's single with two out and the bases loaded in the 10th inning helped California beat Chicago after the White Sox had rallied with three home runs, one a three-run shot by Bill Melton, to take the opener. Stanton's decisive hit came after singles by Vada Pinson and Bob Oliver and a walk. In the opener, the Angels built a 4-0 lead but homers by Dick Allen and Pat Kelly cut it to 4-2 and Melton homered after Mike Andrews singled and Carlos May was safe on an error.

Billy Conigliaro had two homers and Johnny Briggs and George Scott hit one each as the Brewers routed Boston. Scott and Conigliaro also had run-scoring triples to help beat the Red Sox.

JFK LIBRARY MARKS BIRTHDAY OF LATE PRESIDENT

BOSTON (AP)—The John F. Kennedy Library is marking what would have been the 55th birthday of the late president with an exhibit of 46 photographs and 28 mementoes from the collection that it has in storage.

The display opens Tuesday in the lobby of the Kennedy federal building. Kennedy was born 55 years ago Monday.

David Powers, a Kennedy White House aide who is acting curator of the library, said the exhibit was prepared because "birthdays were something special to him."

The display items have been taken from the 62,000 photographs and more than 10,000 museum objects the library has stored in suburban Waltham until a permanent building is ready.

In suburban Brookline Monday, more than 300 persons visited Kennedy's birthplace.

The National Park Service says more than 100,000 visitors come annually to the modest, nine-room house that was the Kennedy family's home from 1914 to 1920.

TO REVIVE DANCES NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut College American Dance Festival, in its 25th year, will open June 30 with a weekend of performances by a repertory company.

This company was formed to revive some of the most important works in American dance. Some have not been performed in more than 20 years.

The festival believes that this is the first attempt to create a modern dance company that will perform only the greatest works by the greatest choreographers.

Palmer Claims Titleholders

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (UPI)—Sandra Palmer practically doubled her lead after each round en route to a 10-stroke victory in the Titleholders Golf Tournament Monday.

Miss Palmer opened a one-stroke lead after the first round at the Pine Needles Country Club here, stretched the margin to three strokes in Saturday and had a five stroke lead after Sunday's third round.

Monday the Fort Worth, Tex., pro shot a one-over-par 72 for a tournament total of 283 for 72 holes, one-under-par.

Ten strokes back were her closest challengers, veteran Mickey Wright and young Judy Rankin, at 293. Miss Wright had a 77 and Miss Rankin a 76 for their final rounds.

"I can't believe I played that kind of golf on this course," said Miss Palmer of the long 6,500-yard Pine Needles layout.

"I tried to never let down at any moment, but I was never really sure of victory until I got on the 18th green," she said.

For the win, her first of the LPGA season, Miss Palmer received a $3,000 check.

Miss Wright and Miss Rankin pocketed $2,081 apiece.

Tied for fourth place at 294 were Marlene Hagge and Kathy Whitworth. Marilyn Smith was next at 296 and Jane Baeck and Candy Mann tied at 298.

Streaking Pirates Keep Drive To Top

By United Press International
The Pittsburgh Pirates swept the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 and 4-2, Monday in their 18th win in 22 games since May 6.

Jose Pagan, subbing at third base for slumping Richie Hebner, hammered out five hits in the Memorial Day doubleheader including a bases loaded homer which snapped a 3-3 tie in the opener. The five-hit output lifted Pagan's average from .192 to .313.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets edged St. Louis, 7-6; Chicago tripped Montreal, 5-2; Los Angeles took San Francisco, 5-2; Atlanta nipped San Diego, 2-1, and Cincinnati bounced Houston, 8-3.

The Phillies, who have now lost 13 out of their last 14 games, blew a three-run lead in the opener when the Pirates scored one run in the second and two in the fifth to set up Pagan's tie-breaking homer.

Willie Stargell then broke up the opener with a two-run homer in the seventh and drove in the go-ahead run in the nightcap with a sacrifice fly that drove home Rennie Sennett in the fourth with the score tied, 1-1.

The first place Mets in the NL East rallied from three runs down in the ninth inning with four runs, highlighted by Ken Boswell's three-run homer. Tommie Agee capped the rally by scoring the winning run on a passed ball. Joe Torre drove in two runs for the Cards with a run-scoring double in the first and a single in the sixth.

Bobby Tolan, showing he's fully recovered from two Achilles tendon operations in two years, stole home with the decisive run in the seventh inning and Joe Hague hit a three-run homer as Cincinnati topped Houston and cut the Astros' lead over Los Angeles to a half game in the NL West.

Tolan, who had three hits in the game, raised his batting average to .313. The theft was his 15th of the season.

Dusty Baker's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth inning provided Atlanta with its victory over San Diego as Bill Greif had held the Braves in check with just three hits over the first eight innings.

The Chicago Cubs, held hitless for the first five innings, erupted for six hits and five runs off Carl Morton in the sixth and went on to beat Montreal. Milt Pappas, who went the full nine innings for Chicago, picked up his fourth victory in seven decisions.

Home runs by Frank Robinson, a two-run blast, Jim Lefebvre and Steve Garvey, both with the bases empty, enabled the Dodgers to close in on Houston. Unbeaten Don Sutton (7-0) gained the victory but needed ninth inning relief help from Jim Brewer.

Chisox Salvage Split, Cubs Top Montreal By 5-2

By United Press International
The Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader with the California Angels Monday, winning the first game 5-4 and dropping the second game 3-2 in 10 innings.

The Cubs, meanwhile, hitless for the first five innings, erupted for five runs on six hits in the sixth inning against Carl Morton for a 5-2 Memorial Day victory over Montreal.

Les Stanton socked a single with the bases loaded for the winning hit in the Sox' nightcap. The victory went to former Sox pitcher, Eddie Fisher, the fourth Angel pitcher.

Chicago took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning when Carlos May walked and Rick Reichardt singled. Rich Morales doubled both runners home.

California tied the game in the sixth on a walk, a double and a single.

In the first game, Bill Melton socked a three-run homer and Dick Allen and Pat Kelly hit solo blasts to give rookie Rick Gossage his first big league win.

Joe Cardenal got the Cubs started with a leadoff double. Randy Hundley and winning pitcher Milt Pappas singled, and Don Kessinger doubled off the top of the right field wall.

Before the inning was over, Billy Williams and Rick Monday had also singled.

Montreal scored its first run in the second on a single by Ron Fairly and Ken Singleton's double. Bob Bailey opened the Montreal fourth by slugging his fourth homer of the year.

Injured in Collision Passant Hospital by Three

The injured were brought to Passant Hospital by three ambulance ambulances.
The injured included the driver of the pickup truck, 49-year-old Margaret Tribble of 728 North East, and two of her children, 13-year-old Judy and 14-year-old Ronald. Mrs. Tribble was admitted in "fair" condition, treated and released Monday afternoon. The two children were treated and later released.

Also injured was the driver of the car, 45-year-old Donald Fahs of Springfield, and three passengers: his 47-year-old wife Betty; their 10-year-old son James; and 77-year-old Mary Margaret Fahs of Auburn. Mary Margaret Fahs remained in "fair" condition Tuesday evening, while the other three had been treated and released Sunday.

State police say the west-bound pickup truck went out of control and spun into the path of the eastbound Fahs car. Fahs drove off the right side of the pavement in an unsuccessful effort to avoid the spinning truck. The collision occurred at the edge of the highway.
Both vehicles were reported to be demolished.

Hijacker Kills Himself Before Being Seized

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian air force troops using tear gas rushed a commandeered airliner Tuesday night. The hijacker killed himself with a pistol before they could seize him, authorities said.

Minutes before, the hijacker had released the plane's 80 passengers in return for $250,000 ransom. The air pirate killed himself with the pistol he had used to commandeer the aircraft and all the money was recovered, said Gen. Oswaldo de Mota Lima, a high Sao Paulo security official.

Three crew members who stayed aboard created a diversion and escaped after the passengers and four other crew members were let off, air force Brig. Dello Jardim de Marcos said. Then the troops moved in. The brigadier said no one was injured.

Earlier it was reported that three hijackers were involved, but Marcos said there was only one. The plane was reported taken over with the threat of setting off explosives, and the hijacker demanded three parachutes in addition to the money.

The recapture of the plane was shown on nationwide television.

Holiday Death Toll—565

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The death toll in traffic accidents over the Memorial Day weekend, the first warm weather long holiday of 1972, was 565.
The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday, a 78-hour period.
The toll fell within the range estimated by the National Safety Council a week ago. The council calculated between 530 and 630 persons might be killed in traffic over the holiday.
A year ago The Associated Press counted 553 traffic deaths during the Memorial Day weekend, also three days. The highest toll for any three-day observance of the holiday was 597 in 1969.

In Fall From Moving Auto

GREENFIELD — A 32-year-old Davenport, Iowa woman suffered abrasions injuries Tuesday morning in an unusual accident on U.S. Highway 67 in Greene county.

Mrs. Helen Rogers, a passenger in a northbound auto driven by her husband John, 28, fell out the right front door of the moving vehicle about six miles south of Greenfield.
She was taken by Shields ambulance about 11:30 a.m. to Boyd hospital in Carrollton where she was treated for abrasions of her back and elbows. She remained a patient in "fair condition" Tuesday evening for further observation.

The Rogers family was returning to their rural Davenport home following a holiday visit with relatives near St. Louis, Mo. The Iowa woman was reportedly sitting with her back against the right front door which suddenly flew open.

She was apparently thrown backward by the force to the pavement. Mr. Rogers, a bank-vault inspector for Modern Safe Co. of Moline, said he was driving at a speed of approximately 30 miles per hour. Mrs. Rogers, who did not have her seat belt fastened, said she had apparently failed to close her door completely.

Passengers in the back seat of the vehicle were the Rogers' 12 year old daughter and eight year old son.

Company Dam Looked Fine To Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee committed to fixing blame for a West Virginia mining-community disaster that killed 118 persons was told Tuesday by a mining official that a company dam looked all right to him shortly before its tragic collapse.

Daniel S. Dasovich, vice president of the Buffalo Mining Co., testified that he inspected the dam about 6:30 a.m. on the day of the disaster and an hour later called the local sheriff to report "the thing looks all right to me. I based that on what I considered sound judgment."

This assessment came while others were trying to evacuate residents of the area below the dam which broke about 8 a.m.

An earlier witness said the dam easily could have been built to be safe.
Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., opened the Labor subcommittee hearings with a pledge that the inquiry will "determine where the fault lies in this disaster." And he indicated special attention will be given to the role of the Department of the Interior and its Bureau of Mines.

Preliminary to the hearing the subcommittee released a study prepared with the aid of the Army Corps of Engineers saying that the ill-fated Buffalo Creek dam was doomed from its inception and never should have been built as it was.

Garth Fuquay told the subcommittee "the means are reasonably well known (but) expensive" for constructing a coal-mine refuse dam which would serve as a filter for waste water from the mine.

Fuquay, an engineer for the Corps of Engineers on loan to the subcommittee, said safe dam construction is "no mystery to the engineering profession."

The subcommittee is probing the Feb. 26 collapse of the dam near Leno, W.Va. In addition to the known 118 dead some still are missing.

Agreement emerged on preparations for Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe. The preparatory consultations seemed likely to take the form of a gathering in Helsinki, Finland, at the end of November. Diplomats from about 35 countries, including the United States and Canada, would try to agree on a list of subjects for discussion by higher officials. These would include some military topics but not actual force reductions.

Maurice Schumann, the French foreign minister, told the meeting he wants groups set up to deal with three subjects: economic cooperation, cultural exchanges and security.

Talks on the future of the two Germanys will start a new phase after the signing Saturday of the agreement on Berlin by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

write-in effort is being staged in his behalf.

Humphrey spent half the day campaigning in Los Angeles, McGovern held a news conference, and then both candidates went to work privately on final preparations for the nationally televised appearance.

The first of those matches was broadcast Sunday night. The final one is scheduled next Sunday.

Humphrey, addressing about 60 black clergymen from the pulpit of a Los Angeles church, said McGovern is outsteering him by "not less than two, three or four times" on radio and television advertising in the California primary campaign.

"I have asked, and I repeat here in this church, I have asked my distinguished fellow senator to give an accounting of his expenditures just as I have done," Humphrey said.

Federal law requires such an accounting anyhow.
Humphrey has said his campaign spending totaled $200,000 through May 22. He said he would give another accounting of his expenditures prior to the primary, and asked McGovern to do the same.

That also is required by law. A McGovern spokesman, Kirby Jones, said the South Dakota senator's campaign in California would cost about $1.25 million.

"I think you have a right to know how much money is being spent, I think you have a right to know what it's being spent on and where it's being spent," Humphrey said. "I think the American people want some clean politics, and if you're going to parade as a man of integrity and Mr. Clean, then you must come clean with what you're doing."

rights and responsibilities the four powers still have in Berlin and Germany.

The two German states would be in a position to successfully apply for membership in the United Nations at the satisfactory conclusion of these talks.

Used in First U.S. Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — A new theory of how acupuncture works made possible the first reported successful operation under acupuncture anesthesia in this country, doctors said Tuesday.

The operation, using acupuncture needles, was performed last Friday at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York. The needles were used to anesthetize the legs of a 60-year-old bank employee for grafting skin from his right thigh to the bottom of his left foot.

The operation was performed by a team headed by Dr. Frank E. Warren, who cited a theory developed by Dr. Pang L. Man, director of research at the Northville State Hospital, Northville, Mich., and his colleagues, Dr. Calvin H. Chen.

"The acupuncture operation was made possible by their report," Dr. Warren said. "I believe it explains some of the acupuncture phenomena, which have been so puzzling, in terms that Western medicine can accept."

Warren said details of the theory, which Dr. Man calls the "two-gate control theory," will be made public at a news conference Friday.

Man explained in general in a telephone interview that one gate, or point at which pain impulses are blocked, is in the peripheral nerves of the nervous system. But this, he said, does not explain how the procedure works on areas not supplied by the spinal nerve.

"We believe," Man says in his report, "that there is a second gate in the thalamus which is also closed, thus stopping all pain impulses coming in from any part of the body."

The thalamus is the main relay center for sensory impulses to the cerebral cortex, the main portion of the brain.

Man said the acupuncture impulses, created when the thin needles are inserted into the body and twirled, are relayed not only to the first pain gate, but via a complicated tract, to the thalamus.

The theory, the psychiatrist said, is confirmed by work done by a surgical group in Canton, China. Interest in the ancient Chinese practice has risen greatly in recent months as the Chinese have demonstrated it in public.

Man said the skin graft is not actually the first performed in this country, but the first reported. Two experimental operations have been performed at Northville State Hospital, one on himself and one on his wife.

Man said an incision was made on his leg under surgical conditions, using only acupuncture as anesthesia. "I didn't feel any pain," he said.

The second operation was for the extraction of his wife's right upper third molar, without pain. "Wonderful," he said. After other tests of the procedure, Man, who had been in touch with Warren, who had been interested in acupuncture, was invited to Albert Einstein.

Warren, an anesthesiologist and psychiatrist, is chairman of a group called the Coordinating Committee for Acupuncture Research of the New York City Health Department, composed of representatives of many medical colleges around the country.

arms race. He also concluded a series of lesser, prearranged agreements for cooperation in such fields as space and environment.

As the presidential jet flew over the Black Sea from Kiev, the Ukrainian city where Nixon spent his last hours in Russia, White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen: "We are leaving with a very positive attitude."

"We are not trying to be sentimental," Kissinger added. "Looking at all the dangers, all the things that can go wrong, nevertheless, we believe it may have turned the page in our relationship."

But if the Soviets disregard the new understandings, he cautioned, "We can go back to where we were in our relations. We are not letting down our guard."

Miss Avanel Brickey of Roodhouse is a patient at White Hall hospital.

Deborah and Dorothy Wilhite, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Wilhite of Virginia, route three, are presently confined to Norris hospital with the old-fashioned measles. They are in room 349.

2 Hospitalized After Accident On Lake Road

Two South Jacksonville girls are hospitalized Tuesday with injuries suffered about 10:30 p.m. Monday in a one-car accident on the Lake Road, about half-a-mile east of the Jacksonville Boat Dock.

Brought to Passavant Hospital by Lowe ambulance were 24-year-old Conale Vanier of 126 Labor Drive and 23-year-old Judy Glover of 188 Labor Drive. Both remained in "satisfactory" condition Tuesday evening.

The two girls were among three passengers in a car driven by 26-year-old Charles Virgin of 1253 South East Street. Virgin escaped injury. However, the other passenger, 25-year-old Darrel Floyd of 1225 South Main, received some minor injuries. He was not admitted to the hospital.

Virgin told investigating Morgan County Sheriff's deputies he lost control on a left curve. His car ran off the county road and into a deep ditch.

Virgin was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

Irish Police Station, Army Post Bombed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A bomb blasted Belfast's fortress-like Springfield Road police station and army command post Tuesday night, climaxing a day of violent reaction by rebel guerrillas to a cease-fire ordered by the Official wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The explosion injured three soldiers and two civilians and demolished part of the heavily sandbagged building.

Two men were killed in early morning gun battles Tuesday. A factory and a laundry were blasted by bombs, but no casualties were reported.

The Springfield Road explosion came within hours of a defiant order from chief-of-staff Sean MacStiofain of the IRA's Provisional wing to his men to continue their bomb and bullet campaign despite a cease-fire by the rival Officials.

Crowds of Catholics jeered at the wounded soldiers as they were carried from the rubble to ambulances.

The British army said: "The bomb was a big one. We don't know whether it was inside the building or planted near the perimeter wire. There was no warning."

The blast blew in the doors and windows of neighboring homes.

The cease-fire ordered Monday night by the IRA's Official wing bolstered faint hopes of peace in the province.

But the IRA's Provisional faction pledged to continue its bloody campaign aimed at the withdrawal of British troops and at uniting the largely Protestant province with the Catholic Irish republic.

Provisional chief of staff Sean MacStiofain said in Dublin his guerrillas would continue their attacks for "the same tactical and strategic reasons."

The Official wing's suspension of attacks followed peace moves by war-weary Catholic women. The Provisionals' explosive reaction appeared to be the start of a fierce struggle between the opposing wings of the IRA to win support of the Catholic minority in the province.

Three Japanese Terrorize Tel Aviv Airport

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three Japanese terrorists opened fire with submachine guns and grenades on crowds of milling passengers at Israel's international airport Tuesday night. Estimates of casualties reached more than 30 dead and 54 wounded.

The gunmen sprayed gunfire and hurled grenades indiscriminately in the airport customs hall shortly after they had departed from an airliner. Israel's transport minister, Shimon Peres, said they were carrying Japanese passports, had Japanese names and their faces were Oriental.

Peres said more than 20 persons were killed, including a 3-year-old girl. Hospital authorities put the death toll at 14. Peres said the gunmen had boarded the aircraft in Rome.

One of the terrorists ran outside the terminal building, sprayed bullets at two airliners and then committed suicide, blowing himself up with a hand grenade, airport sources said.

A second gunman was caught by an airport employee. The third escaped and was still at large more than two hours after the lightning attack, officials said.

The three men arrived aboard an Air France plane from Paris and Rome with grenades and submachine guns hidden in their luggage. Police said they apparently took the weapons from the baggage in Lod International Airport's customs hall, then they opened fire on the passengers around them.

About 300 people were packed into the waiting room and customs hall. It was gory with blood, human flesh, broken glass and bits of baggage after the attack.

"It looked like a slaughterhouse," a witness said. The motive for the attack was not known.

Police said one terrorist's passport bore the name Suki-saki and another was Nago. Full names were not immediately available.

Passengers who had just disembarked from the Air France plane were the first hit when the gun and grenade fire erupted. Then the terrorists turned their guns on airport employees and relatives and friends waiting for passengers.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
Is civilized man's habit of sitting in chairs a chief cause of varicose veins? Dr. Colin A. Alexander, a New Zealand anatomist, believes so. He says that primitive societies in which the people sit on the ground or floor are almost entirely free of the disease.

If you're getting older, better start turning up your reading lamp. The American Optometric Association says that a man of 60 needs at least seven times more light than one of 20 to see effectively.
Although women may have more time to play games, they don't play bridge as well as men, in general, and don't produce champion performers, says expert Oswald Jacoby. Of three U.S. presidents he has played with as partner, Jacoby played Dwight D. Eisenhower above either John F. Kennedy or Lyndon B. Johnson.

Quotable notables: "Poverty is not essentially a lack of money; nor is the mere lack of money poverty. Rather, poverty is the lack of ability, in any given set of circumstances, to get whatever is necessary for comfortable living."—Edward H. Faulkner.
The good old days: The richest man in the town of Amherst, Mass., in 1772 was Nathaniel.

Worth remembering: "Any husband can generally help his wife make up her mind simply by voicing his own opinion."

Nominated For UMW President

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — A disabled West Virginia coal miner, Arnold Miller, 49, has been nominated for president of the United Mine Workers of America by a reform group seeking to unseat union President W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

Miners for Democracy selected Miller as their candidate Sunday for the top post in the 190,000-member union.

Miller headed a nine-man slate nominated by the MFD, which he and others founded after the Dec. 31, 1966, murders of Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski, his wife and daughter, who were shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

The slayings occurred three weeks after Yablonski lost a bitter election bid to unseat Boyle.

However, Boyle's 1969 re-election was voided earlier this month in Washington, D.C. A federal court ordered a new election, but a date has not been set. The court decision also overturned the re-election of union Vice President George Tittler and Secretary-Treasurer John Owens.

Tittler, 77, has said he would not seek re-election. Boyle, 67, and Owens, 61, have not commented on the election.

Besides Miller, the MFD nominated Mike Trbovich, 51, of Clarksburg, Pa., for vice president, and Harry Patrick, 47, of Morgantown, for secretary-treasurer. Trbovich is MFD national chairman.

The MFD indicated its candidates would campaign on a platform to rid the union of corruption and fashion it into a democratic organization.

Miller worked in coal mines for 31 years before he was stricken with black lung disease, a respiratory ailment common among coal miners.

MISSING BOY FOUND ALIVE

WAKEFIELD, Mich. (AP) — An 8-year-old Crystal Lake, Ill., boy, missing overnight in the heavily forested Porcupine Mountains State Park, has been found alive and well.

State Police at the Wakefield post said Joseph Knaak was found Monday afternoon by a volunteer searcher north of White Pine in Ontonagon County. Troopers said the spot where the boy was found is about five miles from the area where he was last seen about 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

The lad was described as being in fairly good physical condition when he was found about 1:30 p.m. Within 20 minutes after his rescue, young Knaak was having a bath, troopers said.

About 50 persons and a tracking dog took part in the search for the boy Monday. Temperatures in the Upper Peninsula area where the boy was last dipped into the mid 40s Sunday night.

The boy's father said he searched for Joseph before reporting his disappearance to authorities.

Dampened Cotton In Jar Keeps Paste Moistened

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I used to get infuriated with library paste that dried in jars, until a retired school teacher told me I should dampen a bit of cotton cloth, keep it inside the paste jar and it would stay moist for weeks. The rag should be rinsed out occasionally so the paste will not develop a sour smell.—MRS. L.N.

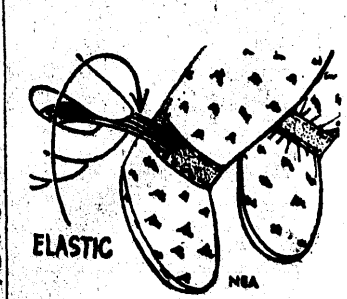

DEAR GIRLS—This Pointer brought to mind a somewhat similar one published years ago and which I have used constantly. Perhaps some of you remember the suggestion for keeping an aluminum tea ball filled with damp cotton in the cookie jar so cookies do not get hard. This is one of my personal favorites.—POLLY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I would like to make my own window shades out of burlap or similar yard goods and wonder if the readers could give me some ideas on how this is done.—KAREN

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with those people who run over dogs and cats and then just drive on, leaving the animal in the road. The least they could do would be to stop and move the animal off the road so it would not be struck again.

Another Pet Peeve is with those people who let their cats run loose all the time. There is one in our neighborhood that hunts mice and, after killing them, brings them into our yard. He also walks all over our car at night, leaving his paw prints on the hood. If cat owners do not want to take care of their pets, they should find another home for them.—BARBARA

DEAR POLLY—I have good news for Norma who has trouble with the feet in her children's sleepers. If they do not have elastic at the ankles, she can sew a strip of tape around each ankle and then run elastic through it. Also the foot portion can be shortened by making a new seam as large as needed inside the old one.—MARJ

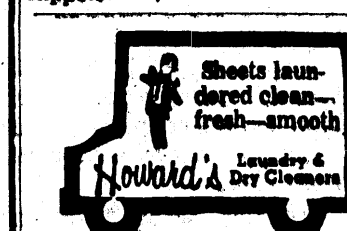

DEAR POLLY—I seldom used my old clothes drying rack so decided to make some use of it. I needed trellises for my climbing roses and clematis so I took the spokes out of the rack, painted the sides and set it up. The holes where the spokes went now hold strings for tying the plants as they creep up. This works perfectly. I saved the spokes in half and added long laths at the ends (ladder fashion) and have another trellis.—EMMA

Griggsville Board Approves Transportation

GRIGGSVILLE — The Board of Education of Griggsville School Unit 4 met in regular session May 18 in the school office.

The board approved transportation to the cheerleader clinic at Illinois State University, Normal, in June. All ten cheerleaders plan to attend the week-long camp.

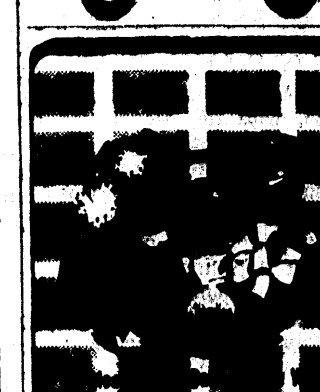

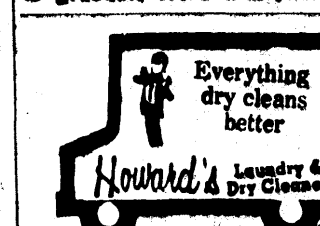

Contracts were approved for Richard Buhse and Paul Schobernd. Permission was given to dismiss at 2:30 p.m. on May 30 and 31. These are the last two regular days of school and will be for high school final examinations. The lower grade picnic will also be held on May 31 at the Griggsville Park from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The transportation contract with Marshall Roberts for the 1972-73 school year was approved. The rate for the carryall was increased from 43 cents per mile to 44 cents. Rates on regular buses will remain at 48 cents.

The Title I request for summer school funds and Part II of the application grant for 1972-73 was approved.

It was also reported the building fire safety code levy was denied as taxes have been received to cover costs in the original survey of 1965. The levy had been .05 for the past four years.

WOMEN'S CLUB DISCUSSES MONEY

The Little Women's club met recently at Centenary United Methodist church. Rita Carrieger, president, opened the meeting. Connie Porter led the Lord's Prayer and Katrina Whitacre led the pledge to the flag. Roll was answered by something relative to ecology.

The girls read in pairs from the chapter, Making Money Do More For You, from A Girl's Book of Personal Development. Discussion centered on allowances and budgeting money.

The new sewing group went shopping for materials and patterns with their counselors. The foods group made sloppy joes.

The South Vietnamese currency, the piaster, has been devalued more than 1,000 per cent since 1965.

Memorial Service Honors War Dead

Led by, and for the most part composed of, local veterans groups, the annual Memorial Day parade made its way down West State St. to the public square Monday.

A crowd of perhaps 250 people lined the street to watch the veterans groups — the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, World War I Barracks — and their women's auxiliaries march from Church St. to the square.

The Jacksonville High School Marching Band made music and gave the march the air of a parade.

The parade made its way to Central Park where the traditional Memorial Day service honoring America's war dead was heard.

The Rev. William Sturgess, pastor of the Central Christian Church, delivered the main address.

Comparing the "hundreds of thousands of still, white crosses" that stand over America's dead soldiers with the Biblical twelve stones of Israel, the Rev. Sturgess told of searching for meaning amid the carnage of World War II in Germany just before the war's end.

He told of reading Russell Davenport's "Hymn to My Country" at that time and the impression it had upon him.

Those crosses he said, "Call us to remember and to learn... To remember and learn some way of ending these sacrifices."

Until the lesson of universal brotherhood is learned, the Rev. Sturgess said, "These crosses will remain little more than symbols of the terrible things we are capable of doing to our fellow man."

There was no mention of the Vietnam war during the service nor were there any Vietnam veterans apparent in the parade. Approximately 75 people attended the memorial service.

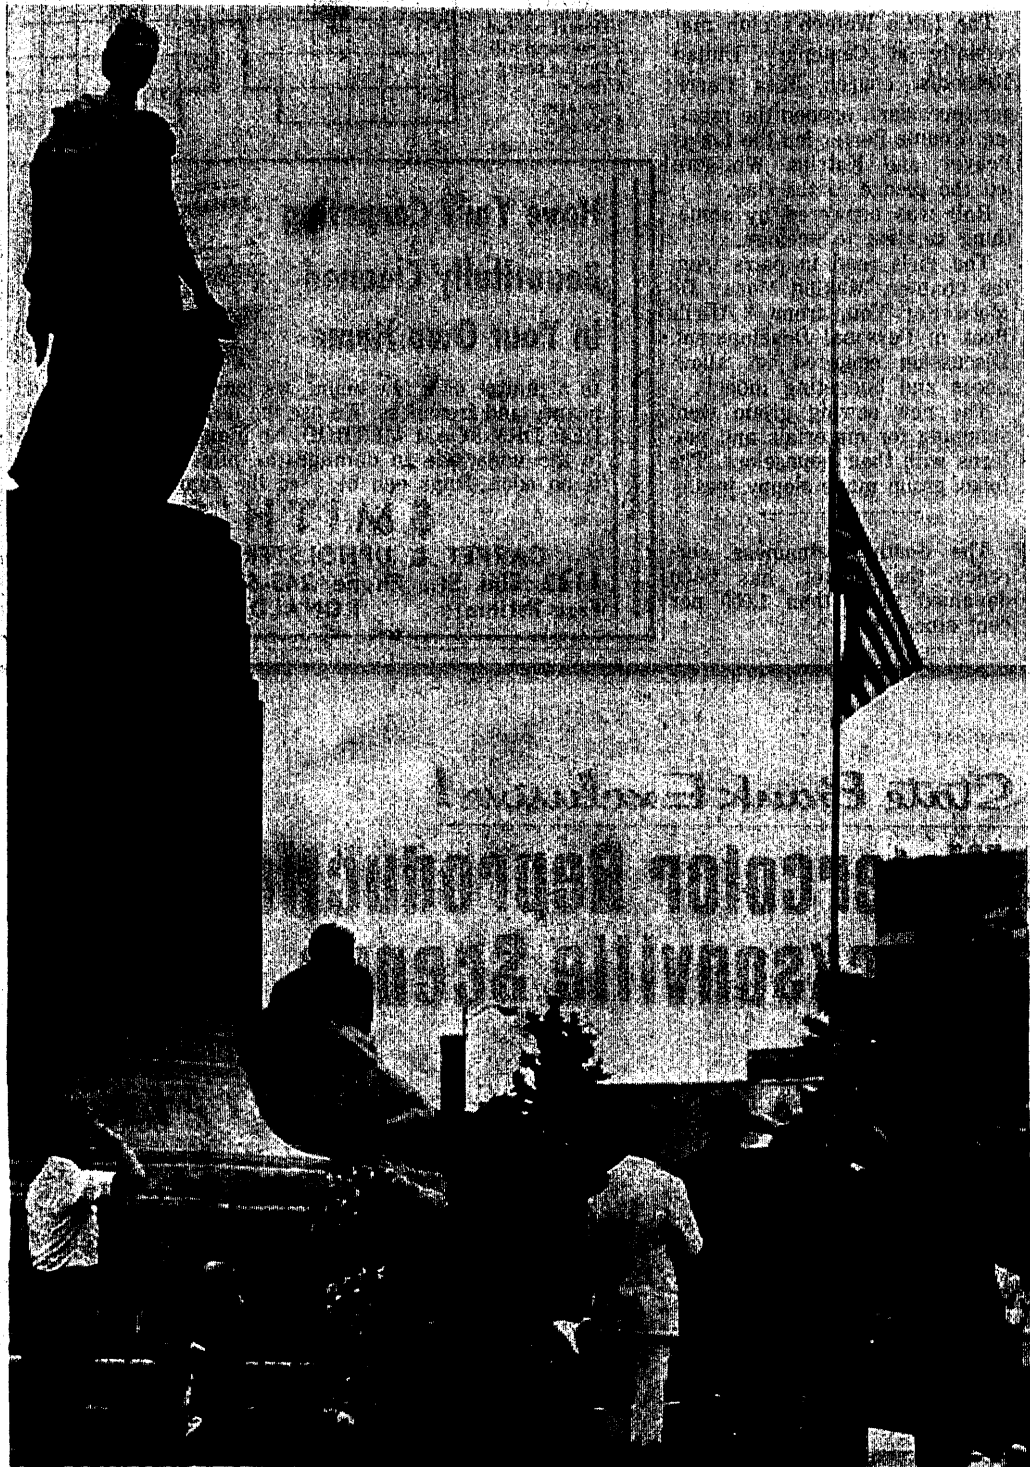

The service ended with a rifle salute to the war dead and the playing of "Taps."

THE CLASS OF 1972 — Illinois College seniors, parents and friends of the college crowded into Rammelkamp Chapel Sunday as the commencement exercises were hastily moved from the lawn to an inside location due to inclement weather.

AN INFORMAL GREETING — Ambassador David M. Kennedy had a brief opportunity to meet informally with friends of the college at the home of President and Mrs. L. Vernon Caine. Shown from left: Arthur J. French, Dr. Ellsworth Black, Ambassador Kennedy and President Caine.

Florida farming JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Corporations own and operate about one-third of the 12.5 million acres in commercial farms in Florida, according to the State Chamber of Commerce.

Executive vice president Ronald S. Spencer Jr., said corporations, ranging from one-person ownership to large conglomerates, own 1,215 farms in Florida, covering 3,864,000 acres. Of these farms, 673 are family owned, 284 are business owned, 203 are owned by single individuals and the other 55 are listed as "unclassified."

The state chamber said no other state in the continental United States has so great a proportion of farms under corporate ownership as does Florida.

BUY SAVINGS BONDS

Juley process LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Nearly 90 per cent of the Florida orange crop reaches the consumer in the form of processed products such as concentrated orange juice, sections and salads, according to the Florida Department of Citrus. Processors also use almost two-thirds of the state's grapefruit crop for such products with only one-third going to fresh fruit markets.

Nixon Presents 1972 Cadillac To Brezhnev

KIEV (UPI)—Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party general secretary, likes to drive for relaxation and now he will be able to drive a black 1972 Cadillac sedan.

President Nixon presented the car after learning Brezhnev was an auto enthusiast. The car was donated by the Cadillac Division of General Motors and already is in Moscow, along with other gifts from Nixon to Soviet leaders.

White House aides said Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin were getting hunting rifles with special scopes "and appropriate ammunition." Podgorny and Kosygin like to hunt.

U.S. spokesmen said Nixon was informed of the hobbies of the Soviet leaders before he visited Moscow for summit talks.

Brezhnev already has a black Bentley sedan.

Nixon earlier presented Accutron clocks as "state" gifts to the Soviet leaders. He made a special gift of a porcelain chess set to the people of the Soviet Union.

Porcelain figures were presented by Mrs. Nixon to the Bolshoi Choreography School and the Bolshoi Ballet Theater. She presented other gifts to a Moscow secondary school, Moscow University, and the Moscow Watch and Fashion House.

Car Recovered Early Tuesday By City Police

Two juvenile boys were taken into custody early Tuesday morning in connection with the theft of an auto reported less than an hour previous.

Arresting city police have not released the names of the youths involved, and have not indicated whether the youths might have any connection with some other auto thefts reported here recently.

Phyllis Morrison of 830 West State notified police at 12:24 a.m. that her car had been stolen while parked at her residence. About 20 minutes later, the car was spotted as it was northbound on Johnson Street at East College in the east part of the city.

Police followed the car several blocks in the northeast section of the city and apprehended the two occupants at the corner of East Lafayette and Howe Street at 12:52 a.m. Tuesday.

Police say the youth driving the car has been charged with running a stop sign and curfew violation. His passenger was charged with curfew violation. Both were issued notices to appear in court and were released to the custody of their parents. Officers say one of the boys is 16 years old, the other is 14.

PLANE CRASH NEAR VANDALIA KILLS FOUR

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP) — Four persons were killed in the crash of a single-engine plane in a woods near Vandalia during the Memorial Day weekend.

The dead were Robert Maple, 35, of East Alton, the pilot; Robert Ickes, 13, of East St. Louis; Robert Bogard, 35, of Biloxi, Miss.; and Bogard's wife, Belinda, 21.

The Piper Comanche took off from the East Alton airport at 8 p.m. Sunday on a flight to Sullivan, Ind. Search parties went out after the plane failed to make a scheduled landing at Vandalia.

A wing was found some distance from the main wreckage, Coroner Max Claggett of Fayette County said. Violent weather may have torn off the wing.

TOWNS EVACUATED TO ESCAPE WRECKED RAIL CAR FUMES

ASHMORE, Ill. (AP) — Some 2,000 residents of four small towns in Coles County were forced to evacuate their homes for a time to escape deadly nitric-acid fumes spilling out of a wrecked railroad tank car.

Residents of Oakland, Bush-ton and Raridan were able to return after an hour Monday, but the sheriff's office didn't give the all-clear to residents of Ashmore for more than eight hours.

The tank car was one of 22 derailed a mile west of Ashmore. Firemen sprayed the fumes escaping from the ruptured tank to dilute the highly toxic chemical.

Coultas Rites Held Tuesday At Winchester

WINCHESTER — Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude Coultas, 87, lifetime resident of Winchester, were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday from the Woodcock Funeral Home, Rev. David Deal officiating. Burial was in City cemetery.

Mrs. Coultas died at 4:35 a.m. Sunday at Passavant hospital. She was born Aug. 5, 1884 in Scott county a daughter of Ornsby and Emma Kastrop Dawson. She was married to Ray W. Coultas in 1911 and he preceded her in death in 1949.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Coon of Winchester, four grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Two brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

She was a member of the Winchester United Methodist church, the WSCS, and Winchester Woman's club.

TWO ACCIDENTS IN VILLAGE REPORTED SUNDAY

Three persons sought hospital treatment following a two-car accident minutes before three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the South Jacksonville intersection of Diamond and West Greenwood.

One of the drivers, 39-year-old Flora Andrews of route one, Chapin, was taken to Passavant Hospital by Lowe ambulance. Going to the hospital later was the other driver, 65-year-old Elda M. Meyer of 524 South East Street, and a passenger, her brother-in-law, whose name was not given.

All three were treated and later released. South Jacksonville Marshall Orla Thomas said the southbound Andrews car ran a stop sign and struck the right side of the westbound Meyer car. There was considerable damage, with the Meyer car considered a total loss.

Flora Andrews received her injuries as she was thrown from her car onto the pavement. She was later ticketed for disobeying a stop sign.

Second Accident A ticket was also issued following a second accident Sunday afternoon in South Jacksonville. This mishap occurred around 4 p.m. near the corner of Chilton and East Vandalia. James Weber, 16, of 1426 Passavant Drive was turning from Chilton onto Vandalia when he lost control, ran into a ditch and struck a culvert. Weber escaped injury, but was cited for failure to reduce speed.

DRIVER FINED HERE TUESDAY

A Jacksonville man entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving too fast for conditions before Judge John B. Wright Tuesday morning and was assessed a fine of $15 and $10 costs.

Charles F. Virgin, 1258 South East entered his plea stemming from a one-car accident late Monday on the Lake Road.

Kiev Girls Prepare Lunch For Pat Nixon

KIEV (UPI)—A group of 12-year-old "young pioneer" girls gave Pat Nixon an early lunch Tuesday—Ukrainian borscht and layer cake.

The first lady dug in and quipped to her entourage, "here's my lunch."

But her Soviet hosts at the Young Pioneers Palace, a 250-room complex overlooking the Dnieper River, broke off the snack and said, "Mrs. Nixon, I'm sorry but we have to follow our program."

Her program, while President Nixon was placing a wreath of red roses and white carnations on Kiev's tomb of the unknown soldier nearby, included a 45-minute stop at the palace.

It was Mrs. Nixon's last round of activities in the Soviet Union before she and the President boarded their jet for a flight to Tehran, Iran.

The "Young Pioneers" are the rough equivalent of America's boy and girl scouts, but there is a heavy emphasis on communist ideological training.

Mrs. Nixon visited a room of children aged four to 10 playing with various toys and then, in a radio room, saw about 15 radio call cards from the United States, including ones from Houston and Mocksville, S.C.

A 60-boy choir in blue shorts, white shirts and red neckerchiefs, the colors of the Pioneers, sang three national songs, including the Soviet favorite "Kalinka."

Volodya Komnyachov, an 11-year-old dancer, stole the show, gyrating energetically through a number with a dozen white-skirted girls with garlands of flowers in their hair.

"He's good," Mrs. Nixon said, applauding. "We'll see him in lights someday."

She was given a bouquet of white roses when she arrived and as she left she gave a rose each to a dozen small girls lined up to say goodbye.

"Well, now, there's just enough for everybody," she said.

She told newsmen her whole nine-day trip to the Soviet Union had been "most interesting."

"Of course the major accomplishments have been what Dick has done," she said.

Fitness Pays LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Keeping fit aids emotional stability, according to research at Purdue University. A four-month regimen of physical conditioning virtually eliminated the most pronounced personality differences between one group of physically fit middle-aged men and another of their out-of-shape contemporaries. Before the non-fit were re-shaped, personality testing showed they were not as emotionally fit as were the physically fit men.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey conducted for an organization representing a cross-section of American industry shows 55 per cent of the general public believes labor unions have grown too powerful and 68 per cent believe recent strikes and labor troubles "have seriously hurt the country."

Opinion Research Corp., Princeton, N.J., has been making the surveys annually since December 1965 for the Labor Law Study Committee, which was formed to study the effect of labor laws on collective bargaining and to recommend changes it feels are necessary.

The latest survey was made between Nov. 15 and Dec. 6 last year. It consisted of 3,000 interviews among the adult population.

On the subject "Unions today have grown too powerful, I would like to see their power reduced," in addition to the general public's 55 per cent approval of the statement, 24 per cent said union power is about right, 14 per cent said unions are not strong enough and 7 per cent had no opinion.

By age groups, the "too powerful" vote was 50 per cent among those 18 to 29 years; 56 per cent among those 30 to 39 years; 57 per cent among those 40 to 49 years; 60 per cent among those 50 to 59 years; and 58 per cent among those over 60. Among union members themselves, 41 per cent said unions have too much power. For members of non-union families the figure was 50 per cent and for non-union families it was 60 per cent.

On the question "In your opinion, have recent strikes and labor trouble seriously hurt the country as a whole, or haven't they had that much effect?" the general public's 68 per cent vote saying "seriously hurt" was accompanied by 20 per cent who said they had not had that much effect and 12 per cent without an opinion.

The 68 per cent figure represented an increase of 12 per cent since the 1967 survey and a 4 per cent increase since 1970.

On the question of government intervention in strikes, 65 per cent of the general public in the poll favored intervention, compared to 57 per cent a year earlier. Twenty-three per cent were against intervention and 12 per cent had no opinion. Among union members 53 per cent favored intervention, compared with 50 per cent in 1970.

Mobile Home Costs Rise

By CARLTON SMITH
The study, made for First National City Bank of New York by Shiefman, Werba and Associates, Detroit, shows that the mobile home has come a long way from its beginnings, back in the '40s, when it was known as the "house trailer." Today, deluxe and custom models sell for more than $25,000, and the industry thinks this is where its future is.

There is no such thing as average cost, nationally. It varies regionally, and with size and amenities. Mobile homes are sized by width in feet. The erstwhile trailers were "eight-wides." Around 50 per cent of sales today are "12-wides," ranging from $4,500 to $10,000, with deluxe models as high as $15,000.

Introduced about two years ago, the "14-wides" are increasingly popular, at $5,500 to $10,000. "Double-wides," with two bedrooms and two baths, start at $8,000 for the 24x47 size and go to $15,000 for the standard-size 28x60.

Mobile home living may not afford quite the low-budget way of life it's generally credited with being. The Shiefman, Werba study notes that the economics of mobile home ownership are "more seductive than they ought to be." Loan payments (at 7 or 7 1/2 per cent) vary with the term of the loan—most often seven years, though 10- and 12-year loans are made, usually by savings and loan associations.

A cost comparison is made in the study, between a typical mobile home (cost, $6,500) and comparable housing in a "minimum" apartment ($180 a month). The mobile-home dweller's costs include loan payment, park rent, heating and maintenance, less the tax deduction of a taxpayer in the 20 per cent bracket.

With one of the long, 12-year loans (and the lower monthly payment), the mobile home owner has monthly out-of-pocket costs 50 cents lower than the apartment dweller's. But with the more typical seven-year loan, his monthly expenses are $1.50 higher.

Authors of the study believe this is a premium that mobile home owners are willing to pay for the life style they acquire along with their 14-wide. And their life style is such an unusual and significant feature of America's changing society that we'll devote our next column to it.

SOYBEAN, GRAIN FUTURES DECLINE

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean and grain futures were heavily sold on early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

A principal factor in the weakness was failure of a definite trade pact involving agricultural commodities to come out of the recent Moscow talks.

The trade apparently had expected that President Nixon or his aide would announce before the talks ended that a Russian commitment to buy grains from the United States had been obtained.

Soybean futures were down nearly 3 cents on the opening and fell a total of 4 1/2 cents within the first hour. Soybean meal declined $1.50 a ton and soy oil fell back nearly 30 points.

Wheat prices eased nearly 2 cents and corn declined 1 1/2 cents. Oats led nearly 1 cent but lead brokers were little changed and trade was slow.

The weather also was a factor in the liquidation but not quite so strong as the trade agreement. There were reports that rain fell in generous amounts in wide sections of the country during the holiday weekend.

New crop corn futures as well as oats and all four wheat options were under strong selling pressure.

After about an hour, soybeans were 1 to 3 cents a bushel lower, July 3.47 1/2; wheat was 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents lower, July 1.46; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower, July 1.26; and oats were 1/2 to 3/4 lower, July 68 1/2 cents.

Old Values Help Meet Challenges Of Graduate World

By JOHN B. MARTIN

"Each of you must have your own base or foundation to which you can turn again and again for strength and guidance you will need."

"When I speak of a base or a foundation, I speak of personal values."

"There is nothing more important to a nation than the beliefs and values of its peoples. And there is nothing more important to the course of your personal progress than these same beliefs and values."

Those were the remarks of the Honorable David M. Kennedy, Ambassador at Large, currently assigned to NATO at Brussels, the speaker for the 143rd commencement exercises at Illinois College Sunday afternoon.

Ambassador Kennedy spoke to 150 graduating seniors and an overflow crowd of parents and friends of the College in Rammelkamp Chapel on the campus. The ceremonies were moved inside at the last minute because of rain.

"In my judgment," Kennedy declared, "there is no substitute for personal honesty and integrity regardless of whether you end up teaching school, practicing medicine, or running for public office."

Share Talents
"There is no greater satisfaction than sharing your talents and abilities to benefit your neighbor and move us all closer to realization of that particularly American concept not yet attained that all men should have equal opportunity. These are values that prevailed in my time and they continue to prevail today."

Kennedy went on to say, "Our disgust and feeling of insecurity toward the polluting of our air, the killing of our rivers and the erosion of the quality of life in our cities should lead us, not to abandon those values we refused to abandon in the face of the Depression, but to harness the tremendous productive and dynamic power of the system."

"This drive for material security should not be destroyed by curtailing the profit motive which is its economic expression. It should be maintained in full vigor and channeled toward the great challenge of arresting and reversing the sad decline in the quality of our environment."

"This passionate concern with the environment, which I know you share with me, is not in conflict with these old and enduring values—it is the product of them."

Solutions
"The answers to the very great problems of our day are not hidden away in the mysteries of economics or in the miracles of science and technology. They are rooted in the values and beliefs of each one of us because economics and science can be no more than tools to do a job, and it takes all of us—drawing on our beliefs and values—to say collectively what that job is."

"It is my conviction that we must magnify the worth and dignity of each individual. I hope you will weigh them and reason about them. There are elements in the challenges you face which are new... I am very glad that new help is coming, that you are on the way."

Kennedy received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws during commencement exercises. He left soon after graduation, by plane, to return to Brussels. Honorary degrees were also presented to two alumni of the college: Paul Joseph Wisch and Wilbur Irvin Patterson. Wisch taught at Jacksonville high school for a time and Patterson grew up in the Jacksonville area.

William N. Clark, chairman of the Illinois College Board of Trustees, spoke briefly concerning the anticipated development plan announced Saturday and Dr. L. Vernon Caine, president of the college, gave the annual statement to the graduates and alumni in attendance. Dr. Caine recognized a number of reunion classes during the program.

Dr. Ernest G. Hildner ended 34 years on the Illinois College campus this year. Dr. Hildner has the rare quality of being able to smile for the camera while shouting orders in a low voice to 150 newly-gowned graduates walking two abreast. Over the years, he hasn't missed up a picture or lost an academic procession. Both cameras and 34 graduating classes have a high regard for the man.

Dr. Hildner received a standing ovation from graduates, parents and friends when Dr. Caine announced that the title of Professor Emeritus had been bestowed on Dr. Hildner by action of the Trustees.

Bud Birdsells celebrate date Sunday, May 28

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. (Bud) Birdsells celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with open house Sunday afternoon, May 28th, at their residence, 636 North East street. The occasion was not without incident as the picture of the couple and write-up in Sunday's paper listed the celebration for Thursday, June 1st, the actual anniversary date. The mix-up resulted from information received at the newspaper on Friday submitted by a relative of the couple. WILDS generously alerted family and friends of the incorrect date in the Sunday morning newscast.

The purpose is to aid and promote better services and care for our children. Functioning on state level the Association directs itself to topics that effect all Foster Parents, such as its recent involvement with public welfare and HEW into the problems Foster Parents are having obtained services with MANG or "Green" medical card.

Carrie Clark Of Cass Dies; Rites Wednesday

BEARDSTOWN — Mrs. Carrie Clark, 55, wife of Leonard Clark of Beardstown, died Sunday morning at Memorial hospital in Springfield.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Northcutt Funeral Home with interment to be in City cemetery.

Surviving are the husband; a son, Clarence of Willow Brook and these brothers and sisters, Jesse and Ernest Knoose, Nettie Steele, Mary Bishop and Dollie Briggs, all of Beardstown; William Knoos and Bessie Byers, Petersburg.

After the defeat, Savickas conceded the stringency of his proposals but said he had not given up.

He cited three persons killed in an explosion at Orland Park March 6 and four killed at another fireworks company at Jacksonville May 15, 1971.

Savickas said there are five fireworks plants in the state and said an explosion like that at Orland Park, if it occurred within the City of Danville would be catastrophic.

Norman Huston Of Beardstown Dies Sunday

BEARDSTOWN — Norman R. Huston, 52, owner of the Huston cleaners in Beardstown since January of 1946, died Sunday noon at St. John's hospital in Springfield.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at Cline Funeral Home with Rev. William Browning of First United Methodist church officiating, and Elder Dale Hager of the R.L.D.S. church assisting. Interment will be in City cemetery.

Mr. Huston was born Aug. 23, 1919 at Enfield (White county) Illinois, son of Mac and Martha Gaultney Huston. He married Ruth Harris Dec. 31, 1941 at Mt. Sterling. Surviving are the widow; a son, Norman Dale, at home; a sister, Mrs. Lena Dickey, Virginia and a brother, Bernal Huston, East Alton.

The deceased served three years with the U.S. Army Ordnance in the Mediterranean area during World War Two. He was a member of Beardstown American Legion Post and VFW Post.

JULIE LITTLER COLE TO RECEIVE DEGREE

MONMOUTH — A Jacksonville student, Julie E. Littler Cole, is among the more than 275 seniors to receive degrees Saturday, June 3rd, from Monmouth College here in the school's 119th commencement. Ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. in Wallace Hall Plaza on campus.

Four Injured Tuesday In Traffic Collision

Four persons were injured Tuesday about 3:10 p.m. in a three-vehicle collision on U.S. 36 near the Brooklyn Ave. intersection.

Joyce A. Grimm, 22, of Franklin, was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Passavant Hospital where she was being treated for a leg injury Tuesday night.

Treated at Passavant and then released were: —Anderson P. Roulund, 3, a passenger in the Grimm auto. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Senate Panel Rejects Tougher Fireworks Law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Despite seven deaths in the last 13 months at Illinois fireworks factories, a state Senate committee Tuesday turned down reinforced preventive legislation.

Joseph N. Porcheddu, president of the Illinois Fireworks Co. of Danville, told the Labor and Commerce Committee that the legislation would make state laws stricter than federal requirements.

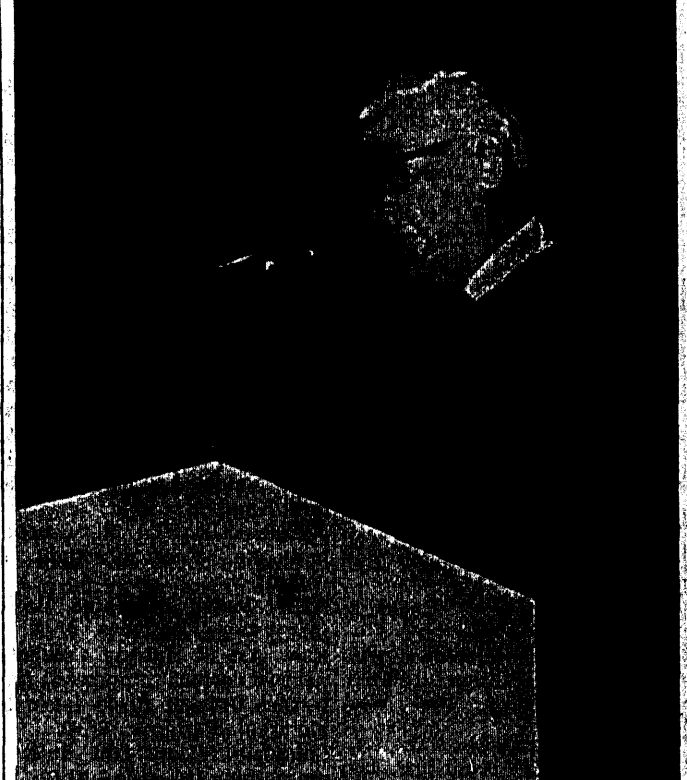

Opponents also have said fireworks displays at county and state fairs would be hampered by a requirement that special magazines be built.

Sen. Frank D. Savickas, D-Chicago, sponsor of the legislation, said it would put enforcement under control of the state departments of Law Enforcement and Mines and Minerals.

After the defeat, Savickas conceded the stringency of his proposals but said he had not given up.

He cited three persons killed in an explosion at Orland Park March 6 and four killed at another fireworks company at Jacksonville May 15, 1971.

Savickas said there are five fireworks plants in the state and said an explosion like that at Orland Park, if it occurred within the City of Danville would be catastrophic.

AMBASSADOR David M. Kennedy was the featured speaker during commencement activities held Sunday on the Illinois College campus. Kennedy is former Secretary of the Treasury and officer of a Chicago bank.

Mary Johnston Dies Tuesday In Freeport

Mrs. William A. Fay received word of the death Tuesday, May 30 of Miss Mary Johnston, head of the department of Latin and Greek at MacMurray College for almost fifty years and author of the widely used "Roman Life." Miss Johnston retired in 1953 and since that time had resided in Freeport, Ill. with her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Yager, 1402 West Stephenson St.

The Italian government awarded Miss Johnston a medalion for her work as editor and co-author of the final edition of "The Private Life of the Romans" by her father, Harold Whetstone Johnston, former head of the Latin department at Indiana University. She was also the author of "Entrances and Exits in Roman Comedy."

She was born July 7, 1883 in Jacksonville, daughter of Dr. H. W. and Eugenia Hinrichsen Johnston. She attended preparatory school at Illinois Woman's College, later MacMurray College, and graduated from Bloomington, Ind. High School. She received her BA and MA degrees from Indiana University, did post-graduate study at the University of Chicago and the American Academy in Rome, and received her Ph.D. from Columbia University, New York City. She was later the recipient of an honorary LHD from MacMurray. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

While a resident of Jacksonville, Miss Johnston was a member of the Monday and Fortnightly clubs and Trinity Episcopal church. During her retirement in Freeport, she was active in the Freeport League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women and a member of Grace Episcopal church.

She is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Yager, Freeport, Mrs. David N. Ross, Indianapolis, Ind., a foster sister, Mrs. L. S. Poston, Jr., Norman, Oklahoma and one brother, William H. Johnston of Sharon, Conn.

Three brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

There will be no local services. The ashes of the deceased will be interred in Rose Hill cemetery, Bloomington, Ind., at a family service.

He attended Bradley University at Peoria and received his bachelor and masters degrees from the University of Illinois. At the beginning of his career, in 1932, at Buda, Illinois, he coached football and track besides teaching agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger (the former Lillian Blaisdell) were married in 1929 at Canton and now reside on a 200 acre farm northwest of Virginia. They are the parents of five children, John, Ph.D., director of industrial research at the U of I, Mrs. Vern (Nancy) Smith of Bradford, James, Ph.D., acting head of the psychology department at the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Wayne (Judy) Briggs of Virginia and Mrs. Marc (Sally) Dahman of Jacksonville.

Man Jailed On Liquor Count

A Cook County man was arrested by state troopers Tuesday afternoon and ticketed for driving under the influence of liquor and illegal transportation of liquor.

Stanley Fish, 48, of Arlington Park racetrack near Chicago, was arrested west of Jacksonville on U.S. 36.

He was expected to appear in Morgan County Circuit Court on the charges this morning. He was being held in jail.

REV. PUCKETT AT 22nd FELLOWSHIP OF BIBLE COLLEGE

The Rev. Charles Puckett, pastor of Westfair Baptist church in Jacksonville, was one of 1,000 pastors, missionaries and full-time Christian workers who attended the 22nd Annual Graduation Fellowship meeting of the Baptist Bible Fellowship International. The meeting took place on the campus of Baptist Bible College, Springfield, Missouri.

During the four-day conference, Rev. Puckett participated in the national business meeting and attended seminars in the pastorate, church music, youth work and Sunday school administration.

Approximately 6,000 guests attended the graduation exercises Thursday evening, May 25. At this time the Fellowship honored Baptist Bible College on its 22nd anniversary and recognized the 402 members of the 1976 graduating class.

Roy E. Waugh entered his plea to a charge filed by Jacksonville city police.

Water Supl. Says 'Fungus Among Us'

"The culprit causing the different taste in the water has been isolated by the EPA laboratory as a fungus called actinomyces. It is killed and removed by the treatment processes, however, it leaves a delayed action type of substance, not as yet clearly understood, that causes an odor in parts of the distribution system after a period of time."

"The water leaving the plant could be odor free while in some parts of town it would be noticeable to persons told about it, in other parts of town it could even be quite noticeable."

"The EPA laboratory found no evidence of algae that could cause taste and odor and did not recommend the use of copper sulfate."

"We are going to use variable amounts of chlorine to see which is more effective and also try different points of application."

"We hope this will help. Again we emphasize that this water is perfectly safe to drink."

The press release was issued by Water Superintendent Bill Terry at noon Tuesday, from the mayor's office and apparently had been checked "for accuracy" by Mayor Dan F. Lahey.

Complaints on the water taste and odor have been declining the past few days, an indication that the situation was either "getting better" or that residents were getting used to the taste.

Ogilvie Urges Protest Of Property Tax

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie urged residents of all Illinois counties except Cook Tuesday to pay their current personal property tax bills under protest.

In a statement, Ogilvie said such a procedure would guarantee taxpayers that they would get prompt refunds if the U.S. Supreme Court wipes out the tax which is being challenged.

Ogilvie said he and Atty. Gen. William J. Scott "are both very hopeful that our long fight to end the hated personal property tax on individuals may end in victory in the United States Supreme Court."

"The voters overwhelmingly knocked the tax off the books in the November 1970 referendum only to see the Illinois Supreme Court hold the decision invalid," Ogilvie said.

The governor said there was no reason for Cook County taxpayers to pay their tax under protest because all payments are being held in escrow under a Circuit Court ruling.

Paying a tax "under protest" means that the money must be held in trust by local officials and that it cannot be spent as regular revenue. Frequently, such payments are placed in banks by county treasurers.

Cass Teacher Retires After 40 Year Career

VIRGINIA — Shaw (Twig) Terwilliger of Virginia, agricultural teacher at Virginia High School, is retiring after a career in education spanning 40 years.

Twig, as he is fondly called by all his students, came to Virginia 18 years ago, under Principal Kipling. When interviewed and asked "What he liked best about teaching," his reply was, "Just working with the youngsters. All of them were good—some different—but not bad kids."

He taught biology in addition to his regular agricultural courses at Virginia. In the past few years many changes were made; one being female enrollment in agriculture classes. Twig said this was an interesting addition and one which he enjoyed.

He attended Bradley University at Peoria and received his bachelor and masters degrees from the University of Illinois. At the beginning of his career, in 1932, at Buda, Illinois, he coached football and track besides teaching agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger (the former Lillian Blaisdell) were married in 1929 at Canton and now reside on a 200 acre farm northwest of Virginia. They are the parents of five children, John, Ph.D., director of industrial research at the U of I, Mrs. Vern (Nancy) Smith of Bradford, James, Ph.D., acting head of the psychology department at the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Wayne (Judy) Briggs of Virginia and Mrs. Marc (Sally) Dahman of Jacksonville.

Twig is a member of the Masonic Order in Virginia and an active member of the United Methodist church. Future plans include short trips, updating some farm buildings on his land and relaxation and enjoyment of his home.

A coffee was held in his honor the last of the school term. He received remembrances and gifts from the Board of Education, Unit Dist. 144, Virginia Teachers Association and the Virginia High School faculty.

DEFENDANT PAYS FINE TUESDAY

A 20-year old Granite City young man entered a plea of guilty before Judge John B. Wright Tuesday afternoon on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and $15 court costs.

Roy E. Waugh entered his plea to a charge filed by Jacksonville city police.

Auto, Truck Excess Sales Tax Refunds OK'd

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation to refund to car and truck buyers some $3.7 million in excess state sales taxes they paid last year was approved 51-0 Tuesday by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. Donald D. Carpenter, R-East Moline, the four-bill package now goes to the House.

The measure seeks to remedy a problem stemming from the repeal by Congress in December retroactive to Aug. 15 the federal excise tax on automobiles and trucks.

Persons who bought cars and trucks between Aug. 16 and Dec. 10 paid sales tax on the prices of the vehicles and on federal excise tax.

Carpenter's bill would return the portion of the sales tax paid on the excise tax.

"The auto dealers filed a motion in Cook County Circuit Court to force the state to return the people's money," through a special trust fund," Carpenter said. "But the state has all the records necessary to give those people back every dollar they paid in returnable sales taxes."

"If a trustee returns this money, he will take a 'slice' for his and his lawyer's administration costs," he said. "My bill will prevent this."

Bike Rider Killed Monday

A Jacksonville woman escaped injury about 3:25 p.m. Monday afternoon as she was involved in a fatal accident on Route 29, one mile southeast of Taylorville in Christian County.

State police say 73-year-old Daisy M. Oser of 800 Hoagland Boulevard was the driver of a northbound car that struck a bicycle, ridden by 15-year-old Johnny Isdell of Taylorville.

The Isdell boy was rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital at Taylorville and was pronounced dead-on-arrival.

State police say the boy was also northbound, riding on the right shoulder of the highway, when he attempted to cut across to the left shoulder. He apparently rode his bike into the path of the Oser car.

Mrs. Oser was not charged.
